Industrial Home Children Guests Of Paid Firemen

Annual Outing and Banquet for Children of Industrial Home Proves More Successful Than Ever—Mayor Carey Present.

On Thursday the Paid Firemen of the city gave their annual outing and picnic to the children and staff of the Industrial Home, and a marvelously happy day it proved to be. Not only the 32 children—all of the children at the Home this year—but the six matrons and members of the Home staff and Mrs. Philip Elting, president of the Board of Managers, together with Mrs. William Van Etten, Mrs. O. D. Ingalls, Mrs. John B. Sterley, Mrs. A. D. Pardee, Mrs. M. R. Coutant and Mrs. Harry R. LeFevre of the Board and a Freeman reporter enjoyed the hospitality of Chief Joseph L. Murphy and the paid firemen of the city.

The fun began when the 13 cars all belonging to and driven by the firemen, drew up at the Industrial Home about 10 o'clock in the morning and the guests were assembled for the auto drive. The little folks were all given flags and gay whistles with which to make merry. And the happy party was augmented and honored by the presence of Mayor Eugene B. Carey, who enjoyed the ride as much as did the children with whom he made warm friends.

Of course the "man of the hour" on these occasions is always Chief Murphy whom some of the children have considered as a sort of summer Santa Claus, and following the official escort of mounted police in the city, went the splendid red car of The Chief which always gives such thrills to every child of the Industrial Home.

It was a wonderful day for a ride. On leaving the city for the open country, the guard of the mounted police of the city was exchanged for that of two State Troopers. The drive included Saugerties, Catskill and Palenville, the party going by one route and returning by another. There was so very much of interest to be seen, that the little folks would have been almost too quiet had it not been for the shill whistles and the special horn on the Chief's car.

Returning to the city the parade stopped to pick up the members of the Board of Managers, together with Acting Mayor Conrad J. Heiselman, City Judge Bernard Culloton, Fire Commissioner Harry Kaplan and Peter Keresman president of The Kingston Patrolmen's Association. The completed procession wound its tooting, whistling way to Kingston Point receiving the cheery salutes of many vehicles which they passed on their way.

The place chosen for the picnic was entirely new to all of the children and their eyes shone like stars not at all dimmed by the excitement of the long ride, as they drove into the park.

They were met at the Pavilion where the luncheon was served, by Mrs. Murphy, wife of the chief and the wives of others of the firemanic body, all of whom had done much in the preparation of the bountiful repast, and who helped in the serving of the same. If ever a table groaned with good things to eat, that long table so attractively set up, groaned. Delicious homemade ham sandwiches, "hot dogs" with mustard, bananas, cocoa and milk and soda water: watermelon, glass jars of tempting candies, lollypops, all called forth many Ohs and Ahs, yet the little folks quietly stood by their chairs until all were placed, when they sang their usual beautiful children's blessing.

Looking down the long table with its happy faced children on either side it was a matter of frequent comment that their behaviour was such as any mother or father might be exceedingly proud of, and furthermore there was such a high average of intelligent appreciation shown and such foundation of character to be noted in the children as to make the older people very glad that those particular children were privileged to share in the joys and benefits of this unique and splendid home.

When no more of the goodies could be eaten, Chief Murphy welcomed all of the guests of the Fire Department and told them that the having of the children of The Industrial Home as their guests was always an inspiration to them. The first time that they had had such a picnic the children behaved as they did yesterday, so splendidly that the Firemen decided to make the ride and picnic during the summer vacation, an annual affair. The men all thoroughly enjoyed making the children happy during the ride and at the picnic, just as their wives sincerely enjoyed their share in the fun by helping to make cakes for them and serving them. Mr. Murphy spoke of the great happiness of all in having Mayor Carey with them for the ride and picnic and then presented each of the other distinguished guests to the children. Acting Mayor Heiselman had a few happy words to say to the youngsters that gave them a good laugh. They just knew that he knew all about being a boy, even if he was such a tall, tall man.

Mrs. Elting, president of the Board of Managers, in behalf of the Board, and the staff of the Home most heartily thanked Chief Murphy and all of their friends, the firemen and the ladies who had assisted them for the joy they were giving the children as they had been giving the children of the Home every summer for several years.

After each child had received a toy, they scattered for games, rides on the merry-go-round, and a sight of the big Day Boat as it stopped

19 Years Ago Today World War Began, Still In The Headlines

New York, July 28 (AP)—Nineteen years ago today certain officials dipped their pens in ink and wrote the headlines for today's newspapers.

The ink, flowing in tiny streams on parchment, gushed to a mighty torrent on the front pages of the world—heralding the outbreak of the World War.

The headlines, black as woe, told of Austria-Hungary declaring war on Siberia on July 28, 1914, of Russia ordering a mobilization the next day; then of the others jumping in.

Today that ink still splashes on page one. A count shows that of all the headlines on front pages of New York morning dailies today 70 per cent deal with subjects which have been traced—directly or indirectly, in whole or in part, by one savant or another—back to the World War.

"Chicago indicts Al Capone and 23 in war on rackets"—how many times has the world been told that the war bred lawlessness, which fostered rackets?

"Gov. Lehman acts to put state behind NRA drive"—How many men have pointed to the World War as the cause of the severity of the depression?

"Spain to recognize Soviet Russia." The traces of war ink on that are plain: Would the Czar still be on his throne if ink hadn't trickled from his pen to parchment 19 years ago?

"Kidnaper doomed to death." Is that too, as some would contend, a result of war-spawned crime?

"O'Ryan is chosen by Fusion group to run for mayor." That's Major-General John F. O'Ryan of the 27th Division, which helped smash the Hindenburg Line.

"World economic parley ends." Would it ever have had to begin, except for the World War?

Some say that, though the fighting has ceased, the World War still goes on. Certainly the mailed fist is still penning headlines, not only on page one, but right through to the financial section.

Not all of them, though. One headline today says:

"Vast continent sank below sea eons ago."

It sank, yet life went on. Perhaps a philosopher could draw a lesson from that.

Judge to Dedicate Washington Tablet

The dedication of the tablet commemorating the visit of George Washington to Kingston and his reception by the trustees of the town and the consistory of the First Dutch Church, promises to be one of the great outstanding events of the Washington bicentennial celebration.

In order not to interfere with the public worship and Sunday school services of the other churches, the dedicatory ceremonies will be held at 3 o'clock on Sunday afternoon, in the church and church yard.

The service in the church will be as follows:

Organ prelude—President's March, Washington's March.
Doxology by the congregation.
Invocation by the Rev. Lucas Boeve, D. D., minister of the church.
Hymn—"O, Holy Father who hast led Thy children", choir and congregation.
Dedicatory address by Judge A. T. Clearwater, chairman of the Washington Bi-centennial Committee of Kingston and chairman of the committee appointed by the consistory of the First Dutch Church.

Judge Clearwater will conclude his address by reading letters from President Roosevelt, Governor Herbert H. Lehman, Chief Justice Charles Evans Hughes of the Supreme Court of the United States, Chief Judge Cuthbert Pound of the New York State Court of Appeals, His Eminence Patrick Cardinal Hayes, the Rev. Dr. W. H. Demarest, president of the New Brunswick Theological Seminary, Dr. Robert B. Clothier, president of Rutgers University, the Rev. Dr. Henry E. Cobb, senior minister of the Collegiate Reformed Dutch Church of New York city, the oldest Dutch religious organization in America and perhaps other letters from the upward of over 200 received by the Judge, highly commending the dedication of the tablet.

The Judge's address will be followed by an anthem, "The God of Abraham Praise," and singing of the hymn, "O God, Our Help in Ages Past."

At the ceremony in the churchyard, preceding the unveiling of the tablet, the congregation will sing "The Star Spangled Banner." The unveiling of the tablet will be by Miss Louise Van Hoevenberg, regent of Wiltwyck Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, assisted by the Boy Scouts and followed by the singing of "America."

Two Men Held in Slaying of Dentist

New York, July 28 (AP).—Charges of homicide were placed against two young Connecticut men today for the strangling last Tuesday of Dr. E. Warren Sylla, 65-year-old dentist, in his New York apartment.

Two others are sought, one known to police only as "Lawrence Kelly" and another whose name was not disclosed.

The arrested pair, taken in Stamford, Conn., by New York detectives, were booked as Edward F. Moran, 22, a Stamford shoe salesman and Joseph ("Terry") Terasowich, 30, formerly a chauffeur and an ice man. Police said Moran had confessed a part in the slaying and robbery. They quoted him as saying he and "Kelly" had attacked the elderly dentist, trussed and gagged him, and then swept everything of value in the apartment into suit cases—even a small radio and the dentist's silk underclothing.

Moran, the police said, insisted he did not participate in the actual slaying but laid this to "Kelly." Terasowich and the other man waited outside.

Part of the loot was recovered in a Stamford sub-cellar, police said, as well as a blood-stained shirt.

70,000 Ordered To Strike.

Easton, Pa., July 28 (AP).—Seventy thousand workers in the silk industry are under orders to strike as a protest against all textile codes, including agreements still under consideration as well as those in effect.

Democrats Choose Election Officials

Chairman William R. Kraft, of the Ulster County Democratic Committee, has appointed with the approval of Acting Mayor Conrad J. Heiselman the following people to serve as election officials in the various wards of the city:

First Ward.

Frank Van Anden and Leslie Flowers, inspectors; Florence Lyons, clerk.

Second Ward.

First district—Merrill E. Balfe and Agnes B. Powers, inspectors; Caroline E. Reis, clerk.

Second district—Harry Howard and John V. Conroy, inspectors, and Kathryn Liscom, clerk.

Third Ward.

First district—Mrs. Amelia Cashman and Anna Ryan, inspectors; Mary J. Caffrey, clerk.

Second district—Mary Delaney and Barbara Kleeman, inspectors; Gertrude Morris, clerk.

Fourth Ward.

First district—Joseph P. Long and Patrick J. Welch, inspectors; Jane M. Hallinan, clerk.

Second district—Frances Hickey and Arthur Roskoskie, inspectors; Anthony Gill, clerk.

Fifth Ward.

Frances M. Murphy and Walter D. Henry, inspectors; Delia Collins, clerk.

Sixth Ward.

First district—Nellie Dunn and Loretta White, inspectors.

Thirteenth Ward.

Thomas J. Glennon and Timothy Goeghegan, inspectors.

Republicans Published.

The names of the Republican election officials have been published, but many have failed to swear in with the city clerk. These and the Democratic officials are urged to take their oaths of office at the city clerk's chambers in the city hall as soon as possible.

MAN DROWNED AT ULSTER HEIGHTS LAKE

Ellenville, July 28—Irving Berkowitz, 18, of Brooklyn, was drowned while swimming in the Ulster Heights Lake, Monday afternoon. He had been employed as a piano player at the Lenox Inn, Briggs street. It is thought the youth was seized with cramps and sank while those swimming with him went for help.

Treasury Receipts.

Washington, July 28 (AP).—The position of the treasury July 26, was: Receipts $84,588,133.32; expenditures $89,800,004.91; balance $846,245,285.05. Custom duties for month $19,619,769.05. Total receipts for fiscal year (since July 1) $140,049,462.97; expenditures $244,656,787.49 (including $36,255,469.63 emergency expenditures). Excess of expenditures $104,617,323.43.

Attorney, Lecturer And Alderman Linked With Chicago Crime

Aaron Sapiro, Dr. Benjamin Squires and Oscar Nelson, Leader of City Council, Among Those Indicted—Al Capone Is Also Named.

Chicago, July 28 (AP).—Linked today with Chicago's most notorious gangsters in a blanket indictment striking at an alleged reign of terrorism in trade were the names of a New York attorney, a University of Chicago lecturer and a Chicago alderman, mentioned several times for the mayoralty.

Today deputy sheriffs were out with capiases seeking to arrest some of the 24 defendants accused by the Cook county grand jury of conspiracy to stifle trade by bombings, slugings, acid throwing, strikes and intimidation.

From New York came word that Aaron Sapiro, the attorney named, had been arrested and released on $1,500 bail and that he had termed the experience "very embarrassing". Prominent as a pioneer organizer of the cooperative movement, Sapiro was counsel of the Chicago Laundry Owners' Association for almost a year. And in Reading, Pa., where he has been acting as federal conciliator in a hosiery worker's strike, Dr. Benjamin Squires, who lectures for three months each year on economics at the University of Chicago, said he was astounded that he was indicted. He was one of the witnesses to appear before the grand jury during its exhaustive inquiry.

"As I understand the law," he said, "I don't see how they can indict me on any testimony I may given under such circumstances."

He said he had arranged $10,000, bond and was returning to Chicago. Dr. Squires has figured in various capacities in the cleaning industry, the beauty parlor industry and with the Chicago master barbers.

"It is my understanding that the indictment against myself is on the charge of conspiracy to fix prices, which I freely admit doing. If I am wrong in this, however, then so is the President of the United States."

The third prominent man named was Oscar Nelson, Republican leader of the city council, and attorney for the dye house drivers' union. He is touring Europe with his family, but his partner, Joseph A. Ricker, said he would cable him to return at once and that Nelson would issue a statement.

"There has never been a single blemish upon his record," Ricker said. "We are sure that any one who knows him knows he is guilty of no wrongdoing."

Alderman Nelson was born in Chicago and claims to have begun his career as a newsboy. Later he became a postal clerk and finally was elected national president of the postoffice clerks' organization. He was first elected to the council as a Democrat, but switched to the Republican side and was a floor leader for former Mayor William Hale Thompson.

State's Attorney Thomas J. Courtney was jubilant today at the action of the grand jury, which also indicted "Scarface" Al Capone, the city's No. 1 gangster, now serving a sentence at Atlanta federal penitentiary for income tax evasion, and Murray Humphreys, Capone's reputed successor.

"It is the first time the state has been able to get anything on Capone," said Courtney. "And we'd like to make sure he'll go behind bars of the state penitentiary when he finishes his Atlanta sentence."

Courtney said an attempt would be made to bring Capone to Chicago under armed guard to stand trial with the others.

Since the investigation was begun last May 7 Courtney said there hadn't been a bombing in the laundry, carbonated beverage, and cleaners and dyers' trades in Chicago. He also said the inquiry, comprising testimony of 588 witnesses, had been conducted without special funds.

PLAN INTERNATIONAL CLEARING HOUSE FOR CROOKS

Chicago, July 28 (AP).—A formula for an international clearing house for the apprehension of crooks was the objective of European, American and Canadian police and criminologists today.

Such an organization would deal with matters of extradition, white slavery, drug smuggling and the tracing of confidence men, but it was indicated, would not deal with kidnapings and gangs as they were considered as peculiarly "American institutions."

A preview of what may be undertaken by the criminologists was given last night by Police Commissioner James S. Bolan of New York, who told them that at present there is a lack of complete coordination and cooperation of the authorities in their attempt to run down criminals.

SAUGERTIES MAN GETS SUSPENDED SENTENCE

New York, July 27 (Special)—A suspended sentence of thirty days and a fine of $25 were imposed in United States District Court here today by Judge Francis G. Caffey on Albert Buhl of Saugerties when he pleaded guilty to charges of maintaining a nuisance and possession of liquor.

He was arrested in January at "The Maples", located near Saugerties at the junction of routes 32 and 212. Agents found six barrels of beer and small amounts of whiskey and wine.

Big Rush To Sign Up And Get Blue Eagle

Success of President's Re-employment Drive Predicted—Johnson Confers with Leaders of Motor Industry.

Washington, July 28 (AP).—A rush of merchants and businessmen to sign up and get the blue eagle of N. R. A. posted in their windows stimulated to more vigorous efforts today the men who are working for, and predict success of, President Roosevelt's re-employment campaign.

The thousands of telegrams which pledged support in the hour-shortening, wage-arising, job-creating endeavor were being backed up by signed re-employment agreements with the President.

These were on the way back to Washington by the thousand. Post offices over the country reported merchants rushing in to file certificates showing they already had put the agreements into effect, entitling them to the eagle poster with the words: "We Do Our Part."

Delivery of the blanks began only yesterday, and continues today and tomorrow. While postmasters reported the rush to sign up, local committees were checking up on instructions from Washington to see how many men in each community actually got jobs from those who had reduced the working hours of existing staffs.

In Washington, the recovery administration's legal advisers were completing definite interpretations of the agreement expected to help thousands more employers with perplexing problems to sign up. Donald Richberg, general counsel, expected to complete the job yesterday but it proved too complicated.

Among questions he was trying to answer was whether employers whose help is under contract at a definite rate for a definite number of hours, can obtain the blue eagle without voluntarily bettering the terms of the contract.

Hugh S. Johnson, director of the whole enterprise, was off on a sudden, secret expedition which yesterday took him to Detroit for conferences with leaders of the motor industry. The big automobile plants had announced raised wages but kept quite about submitting a code of fair competition, although they have had the question under consideration a long time.

Secretary Perkins also took the field so she would have some first-hand information when hearings start Monday on the steel industry's trade agreement. She slipped off to Pittsburgh last night, unannounced.

This particular code, it is estimated, will mean better pay for around 500,000 workers, directly and indirectly. Labor problems in this, as well as the automotive code, have caused some differences.

Officials were making progress toward shaping agreements to cover the whole oil industry; a new hearing for lace manufacturers was begun this morning; a lumber industry committee drove ahead at re-writing their agreement; Deputy Administrator Lindsay Rogers took charge of the two men's clothing industry codes.

Next week, there will begin a whole new series of hearings on products ranging from cameras to wallpaper and to corsets, filling every week day from now to August 10.

A newly-submitted major code—covering tobacco manufacturers—went to the agricultural adjustment administration since its raw material comes from the farm. Johnson's representatives will sit in to pass on all labor provisions. The tobacco men proclaimed intention of putting the terms into effect August 1 voluntarily.

Survey of Work At World Meet

(By The Associated Press).

Some homeward-bound delegates to the World Economic Conference counted results of the congress today in terms of spadework for future deliberations; others considered the elaborate agenda and were discouraged because it was not nearly completed.

One of the tangible achievements during the six weeks of discussions by representatives of 66 nations was an eight-power arrangement for withdrawing a certain amount of silver from the market for four years thereby increasing its price.

Another was the economic non-aggression pacts Russia effected with her neighbors. In this category are the reported negotiations of other countries, including the United States, looking to consummation of bi-lateral trade agreements.

On this latter point the conference stumbled. France maintained from the outset that there was no value in talking about removing trade barriers or any subject until the problem of currency stabilization was solved, a question the United States refused to consider.

An executive committee has the power of determining when the congress will reassemble; it will meet, perhaps, in September to consider reopening the parley.

More Charges.

Milwaukee, July 28 (AP).—Roger Touhy and three members of his gang were confronted today with additional charges in connection with the $100,000 kidnaping of William Hamm, Jr., millionaire St. Paul brewer.

Governor Asks Enactment Of Temporary Liquor Measures

Would Become Effective If Prohibition Is Repealed Before Next Regular Session In January, 1934—Mulrooney Warns Governor of "Wildcat" Liquor Distilling and Sale Unless Temporary Laws are Enacted at Present Session.

Albany, N. Y., July 28 (AP).—Governor Herbert H. Lehman called upon the New York Legislature today to enact temporary liquor control measures at its present extraordinary session, to become effective if prohibition is repealed before the next regular session in January, 1934.

"If the (repeal) amendment were to be ratified by 36 states before the state of New York took action to control the manufacture and sale of alcoholic beverages containing more than 3.2 per cent of alcohol," the governor said, "the result would be that such manufacture and sale within the state would be wholly unregulated and wholly uncontrolled.

The Governor's recommendation was in line with a suggestion by Chairman Edward P. Mulrooney of the State Alcoholic Beverage Control Board. Mulrooney, former New York city police commissioner, warned the Governor that there might be a good deal of "wildcat" liquor distilling and sale unless some temporary laws were enacted.

He said his board wanted more time to study liquor control before making specific recommendations, but that it wanted the same control over liquor that it has over beer pending such studies.

Governor Lehman said that the Beer Control Board's administrative machinery "might well be used with little extra expense for the control and sale of alcoholic beverages containing more than 3.2 per cent of alcohol."

"However," he continued, "some of the provisions of the alcoholic beverage control law, including places and conditions of sale, licenses and licensees, would necessarily be inapplicable to beverages of more than 3.2 per cent of alcoholic content."

He then recommended changes in the beer control law to give the beer board liquor control.

"The proposed amendment to the United States constitution, repealing the 18th amendment, has already been ratified in convention by 13 states, the Governor said.

"Seven other states have definitely indicated their intention to ratify, although they have not yet formally done so. A great many other states are preparing to take action toward ratification. There is a decided possibility that by reason of the growing national resentment against the evils of prohibition, the 18th Amendment may be legally repealed before the next regular session of the Legislature shall have the opportunity to prepare for repeal.

"It would be difficult to enact at this extraordinary session a complete and permanent program for the proper regulation and control of the manufacture and sale of liquor. It is essential, however, that adequate temporary control and regulation be enacted immediately, to take effect upon the repeal of the 18th Amendment and to remain effective until the next Legislature shall have had an opportunity to adopt a permanent system."

Elting Will Attend Newburgh Rally

Newburgh, N. Y., July 28 (AP).—The Republican drive to strengthen the party's control of the State Assembly will be launched by Speaker Joseph A. McGinnies at a rally here tomorrow.

The rally is for the Republican committees of Sullivan and Orange counties. Sullivan is represented by a Democrat in the Assembly.

Senator Thomas C. Desmond will entertain the party workers at his home. He said today that Speaker McGinnies would announce the issues on which the campaign will be fought.

Representative Hamilton Fish, Jr., and Philip Elting of Kingston, former collector of the Port of New York, will attend the rally.

MORE TROUBLE GREETS MILK CONTROL BOARD

Albany, N. Y., July 28 (AP).—New York's Milk Control Board, born out of a strife-torn industry, approached a new storm today in its brief but hectic experiment in price regulation.

A double-crisis faced the board. Governor Lehman has been asked by Albert Woodhead of Rochester, self-styled leader of 55,000 farmers, to remove Chairman Charles H. Baldwin and Director Kenneth F. Fee from the board on the ground that they are not friendly toward the dairy farmers.

The Governor has withheld his answer.

The other crisis was the milk strike which Woodhead and his Oneida county associate, Stanley Piseck, have threatened to call next Tuesday unless the board meets their demands that 45 per cent of the consumer's milk dollar be given to the farmer. The board has flatly refused the request.

Working hand-in-hand with the board members is Henry S. Manley, the board's counsel, who successfully defended the emergency milk law against charges of unconstitutionality in the court of appeals a few weeks ago. If the law had been declared unconstitutional, the board and its minimum price orders would have gone out of existence. The board estimated that in 10 weeks following its creation last spring its price orders added $2,000,000 to farmers' milk checks.

BRITISH EMERGE FROM PARLEY WITH AGREEMENT

London, July 28 (AP).—The British Empire emerged from the World Economic Conference with an agreement in which the dominions and the mother country declared for stability of inter-empire exchange rates.

This was made known in a declaration by the Empire delegates to the conference in which it was emphasized that the United Kingdom is not committed to any policy of keeping the pound sterling at any fixed ratio to the currency of another nation.

The declaration was signed by the United Kingdom, Canada, Australia, New Zealand, South Africa and India. The Irish Free State did not sign but the Dublin representatives referred the matter to his government.

The Empire delegates called for ultimate restoration of an international gold standard. The problem facing gold, they held, is to reconcile stability in exchange rates with a reasonable measure of stability in world prices, and not merely in the price level of a particular country.

The Empire delegates declared for an increase in the level of wholesale prices and for the lowering of inter-empire trade barriers.

They provided for a continuing unified monetary policy by the members of the Empire by recommending that their governments consult periodically to that end.

HARRIMAN'S MENTAL MAKEUP AFFECTED, SAYS DAUGHTER

New York, July 28 (AP).—Mrs. Boykin Wright, daughter of Joseph W. Harriman, indicted former bank president, who is undergoing a federal investigation to determine his sanity, testified today that the mentality of her father is like that of "my own children, who are still very young."

Mrs. Wright said that her father's mental condition had been affected since 1925 when his son, Alan, was killed in an automobile accident.

Auto Injures Boy.

A report at police headquarters says Earl Austin of Glenmount, driving the car of W. Rifenbary of 560 Broadway in an easterly direction on North Front street yesterday, struck 8-year-old Preston Furgnson of North Front street near Green street. The boy's hip was injured. He was treated by Dr. M. M. Silk and taken to his home.

Albany, N. Y., July 28 (AP).—Governor Herbert H. Lehman today for the first time since he took office, ordered the state police to investigate a murder, the slaying of Mrs. Mabel A. Grogan, 53-year-old Boston school principal, five times yesterday afternoon during a nature walk in the wooded wilderness surrounding here. She could give no reason for her act.

Ambulance Calls.

Yesterday the city ambulance removed Mrs. John Short from the Kingston Hospital to her home, 145 Hunter street, and Rita Norris from the hospital to 53 Cedar street, and Peter Connors from 40 Marius street to the Benedictine Hospital.

NEW YORK MAY HAVE ITS OWN "SCOTLAND YARD."

Albany, N. Y., July 28 (AP).—New York state may have its own "Scotland Yard" to put up an effective fight against kidnaping and other crime, under a plan being considered by Assemblyman Burton D. Esmond (R) of Saratoga county, chairman of the codes committee.

The proposal for a state secret service was made by President Roosevelt as governor, and by the Baumes crime commission.

Esmond said under the plan he may present the governor's department would have a "laboratory of scientific detection," with a staff of experts ready to go to the aid of any locality where police are baffled by criminal cases.

TELLS POLICE SHE SLEW MOTHER ON THURSDAY

Orange, Mass., July 28 (AP).—A 20-year-old former school teacher today led a group of state and local police into the woods at Warwick to a brook where lay the bullet-riddled body of her mother whom she said she slew.

The daughter, Mrs. Ruth Compton, told the officers that she shot her mother, Mrs. Mabel A. Grogan, 53-year-old Boston school principal, five times yesterday afternoon during a nature walk in the wooded wilderness surrounding here. She could give no reason for her act.

Mrs. Florence Cotant of Washington avenue was confined to her home several days with tonsillitis. She returned Thursday to her duties at the bank in Market street, Poughkeepsie.

Mr. and Mrs. S. Warring of Ohioville were callers on the H. A. Lent family Wednesday. Mrs. Lent and children have been enjoying a few days out of town.

Captain R. H. Decker was out of town Wednesday and Mrs. Decker and Miss Dimsey were enjoying a trip Thursday.

The Charles DuBois family and Emily Decker family have all returned from camp at Watson Hollow, where they enjoyed themselves greatly.

A. D. Rose to Support President's Plan

A. D. Rose, Inc., of 73 Franklin street is another Kingston firm which will support 100 per cent. President Roosevelt's blanket emergency code in his recovery drive. The provisions of the code will be carried out by the local firm as soon as the working schedule can be re-arranged, which will take about ten days.

Card Party.

On Thursday evening, August 3, a card party will be held in All Saints' Parish House, Rosendale, commencing at 8 o'clock. Refreshments will be provided. Proceeds are to aid All Saints' Church.

Flashes of Life Sketched in Brief

By The Associated Press

Cleveland, July 28 (AP).—John W. Slagle, employe of the New York Central railroad, has traveled 159.6 miles to and from his work each day for 13 years. He will retire Monday at the age of 70. His friends figure he's ridden 720,000 miles between his home at Galion, O., 79.8 miles from here, and Cleveland.

"When I was transferred," he said, "my wife didn't want to leave Galion, and I'd just as soon ride a train as a streetcar so we stayed down there where most of our friends are. It seems too bad to quit now just when I'm getting used to commuting."

Slagle has been railroading 44 years.

And Now He'll Diet.

Beckley, W. Va.—Bulky George Fine, 29, tried to follow Lester Blevins, 22, tall and slender to freedom through a hole they dug in the Raleigh county jail wall. He stuck tight.

Another prisoner called the jailer. While prison officials pulled from the inside, firemen outside pushed—successfully.

Galloping Back to Nature.

Ritzville, Wash.—A half broken horse made Ewan Roloff a good candidate for a nudist colony. Ewan roped the horse which dragged him across a field and through three wire fences. When it finally gave in, Roloff was attired only in a pair of shoes.

Gets Two Beasts on One Shot

Sunnyvale, Calif.—Arnold Marty, out in the hills with his gun, saw an 80-pound mountain lion kill a fine, large doe. So, he killed the cat which had violated the closed season on deer and got venison legally.

Operatic Dancer.

Hill was playing the role of Valentine and engaged in such violent combat with Edouard Rothier, as Mephistopheles, that his sword snapped at the hilt and his hand was cut.

The outdoor presentation of the opera went on.

Food and Advice.

Oaklyn, N. J.—Morris Kelley, 16, was arrested on a charge of stealing cakes.

"Why?" inquired Recorder John Valley.

"I was hungry," replied the youth.

"In that case," said the court, "I'll give you ten days in the county jail, where you will be well fed. Next time you are hungry, don't steal; ask."

Simple and Direct.

New York—Michael Mongello, says police, would walk into a busy office, tip his hat to the stenographers and with a "good day" walk out. Everybody thought he was a repair man.

Detectives found 14 typewriters in his room. He said he needed the typewriters for correspondence.

No, No Nero.

Des Moines, Iowa—"Who" inquired a feminine voice over the telephone of the secretary of the superintendent of schools, "is this man Nero I've been reading so much about in the papers lately?"

"Nero" said the secretary "was a Roman emperor, but he hasn't been in the headlines recently."

It was finally concluded that the woman must have been talking about "NIRA" the coined word to signify "National Industrial Recovery Act".

OLIVE BRIDGE

Olive Bridge, July 28—The Olive Bridge 4-H Homemaking Club held its annual camp last week on the grounds known as the "Jane Davis" place. There were 15 members present under the leadership of Mrs. Alonzo Davis. The girls through their work had made enough money to purchase tents, army cots, camp chairs and other things to make their camp comfortable, besides buying all their food. Those who attended were Mrs. Viva Davis, local leader, Ida Mae Davis, Laura Davis, Ella Krum, Virginia Krum, Florence Krum, Ida Mary Krum, Edna Oakley, Kathryn Oakley, Theresa Weber, Florence Davis, Mildred Davis, Shirley Davis, Margaret Crawford, Ruth Gordon and Jennie Beesmer.

The boys of the 4-H Garden and Poultry Club held their annual camp at the same time in Fromm's Grove. There were only six of the boys at the camp but they had a good time. Those who attended were Albert Davis, Arthur Davis, Richard Valentine, Jr., Theodore Weber, Jr., Vernon Keator and Robert Crispell.

There are a number of out-of-town people in this place who are enjoying the huckleberry picking on High Point and Hooppole Mountain. Everyone is getting plenty of berries.

Mrs. Elsie Davis has taken a position at Mohonk Lake House.

A number of young men from this place have joined the C. C. C. in Boiceville.

W. C. Davis of this place and Edgar Wilson, herdsman at the state farm at Napanoch, visited the State Hospital Farm in Poughkeepsie last Sunday.

The Crusaders did not hold their weekly meeting last week. It was to have been held at Virgil Gordon's but on account of sickness it was postponed.

The Rev. Mr. Lockett is away for 10 days attending a Bible conference.

Charlie Jansen has his cellar nearly completed.

Detroit's Altitude

Detroit is 575 to 640 feet above sea level. The highest points in the Lower Peninsula are near Gaylord, in Otsego county, and near Cadillac, in Wexford county, 1,500 to 1,700 feet. Mecosta county has an average elevation lower than this, most of it under 1,000 feet.

Home Children Guest of Firemen

on its up-bound trip. Peanuts and pop corn were handed out in the afternoon.

But even the happiest of days must come to an end and before they started for home the children grouped themselves together, and the oldest girl, Katherine, in a very nice and sincere little address thanked the firemen for the splendid time they had had every minute of the day from the moment they started on the ride until they were then ready for three cheers for their friends which the children gave right lustily.

Finally, not only were all of the little folks taken safely home, but eight luscious home-made cakes were left at the Home for another day, when the lovely picnic will all be lived over again.

DEATHS LAST NIGHT

(By The Associated Press).

John C. Baxter.

Charles J. Orbison.

Dean Oliver Riley.

NINE CASES HEPORE JUDGE CULLOTON TODAY

City Judge Bernard A. Culloton had nine cases this morning in city court as follows:

Floyd Purdy of 11 Ann street, arrested yesterday by Officer Henry P. Burmann for driving a car with the wrong license plates, had his hearing adjourned until Saturday.

Paul Sirubeck, aged 50, arrested for stealing milk from porches, was sent to jail for 10 days. The sentence was more of an act of mercy than punishment. It was meted out to give the old man a chance to eat and get cleaned up.

Robert L. Paul, a school teacher of Garden City, L. I., arrested here yesterday by Officer Elbert L. Soper on a warrant charging petit larceny, had his case adjourned until Saturday.

Anna Burmeister of 7 East Pierpont street paid $5 fine on a public intoxication charge. She was arrested by Officer John Harnen yesterday on the Strand.

John Frain of New York city and James Colter of Germantown, arrested by Special Officer Charles Messinger downtown last night for public intoxication, were sent to jail for five days.

George Reed, Clifford LaPlant and Richard Brown, travelers, arrested early this morning by Officers Hess and Van Buren on disorderly conduct charges were given 10 days suspended sentences.

Free Dinners at New Deal Grill.

The New Deal Grill at 173 Abeel street, will offer free to the public chicken noodle and potato salad on Saturday, July 29 from 12 noon until 12 at night. Mickey Qualtere is the proprietor. He believes in falling in step with the times by naming his restaurant and giving the public a "new deal". Mickey Qualtere sponsored free dinners to the public last Saturday and a great number visited the grill. It is expected that this Saturday will bring a much larger gathering.

Parliament Walls of Refuse

That walls in the parliament in Sydney, New South Wales, were made from packing cases shipped from Melbourne in 1885, was revealed by a fire in the government building.

Are gaining favor. With the advent of trimmer figure lines, women are asking for more definite figure control—the back-laced corset is the natural answer.

Perhaps that's the reason why they are rapidly gaining in popularity. The back-lacing affords the advantage of adjustment—draw it tightly or loosely—as you choose.

Extra length in a new Nemo-flex Corset. Long over hips and high in back. It takes care of the flesky figure perfectly.

THE CONFERENCE HABIT

With the Geneva disarmament conference and the London economic conference temporarily abandoned, it is easy for many persons to agree with Mussolini when he declares that all international conferences are futile. Two thousand delegates, he says, can't achieve anything but universal boredom. "It is," in Mussolini's opinion, "an external pretense or conventional falsity to burn incense to democratic equality that neither exists in nature nor has ever existed in history."

Mussolini thinks the four-power pact which he pushed through represents the only way to accomplish things. Let a few big fellows get together and do what they know is good for all, and let the little fellows keep out of the way and be grateful for favors conferred. Unfortunately for that theory the little fellows prefer to have some say about matters affecting themselves. History shows, too, that they received very few favors or benefits from the big fellows in the days when they had no recognized right to speak out in meeting. Quite often now, perhaps because of being the underdogs, they make a stronger fight than the big nations, for justice, humanity, peace and brotherhood. But whether he believes in it or not, Mussolini can not put an end to international conferring. The little nations have the habit now, and most progressive peoples among the big ones are committed to that method of solving mutual problems.

UNIFIED ACTION

"I have no faith in cure-alls, but I believe that we can greatly influence economic forces," declared President Roosevelt in his talk with the public on July 24. "I have no sympathy with the professional economists who insist that things must run their course and that human agencies can have no influence on economic ills. One reason is that I happen to know that professional economists have changed their definition of economic laws every five or ten years for a very long time. I do have faith; and retain faith, in the strength of unified action taken by the American people."

He might have added that professional economists do not agree about definitions and workings of various economic laws in any given year, either. If economic laws are really fixed and arbitrary rules, as the economists say, it is obvious we do not yet understand them fully. We must keep on experimenting with them, testing them, modifying them as we can, until we arrive at a complete understanding of them and can work in harmony with them. The nation is in the midst of such an experiment now. To put it over requires "unified action" by the whole public. We united in action to fight a World War. Here is a greater cause, and the American people appear to be rising to it eagerly.

BRINGING LINES TOGETHER

The engineering problem the National Recovery Administration is engaged in is really simple. It is to spread work and raise buying power quickly, so people can absorb the increasing production of goods, and thus keep the business improvement going till we're back to normal.

Gen. Hugh S. Johnson, NRA administrator, put the matter clearly in picture form when he told the newspaper men about it. He showed a chart prepared by his research experts. Two curves represented purchasing power and production. The former, which had long been falling, showed a slight upturn in the last few weeks. This was promising, but the upward thrust was very gentle. People were buying again, but slowly. The curve showing volume of goods produced soared sharply up, rising far above the purchasing power curve. "That sort of thing simply can't go on," said the general. "We've got to bring the two lines together."

Buying has to equal production, or production will jam and the machinery will stall again. It would be a good idea to print and distribute that chart everywhere, and continue it from week to week, showing how the curved line of consumption nears the line of production as the new, co-operative plan proceeds.

HAY FEVER AT THE FAIR

There is a hay fever exhibit in the Hall of Science at the Century of Progress exposition, and some facetious person who knows nothing of the sufferings of hay fever victims suggests that a special hay fever day be observed along in mid-August. The idea produces laughter, as does the ailment itself in all but those who have it.

Well, it's quite likely that several hay fever days will be observed in August in Chicago, particularly if the temperature rises to the usual August heights. There will be a procession of red-eyed, sneezing humans passing before that exhibit and gazing tearfully at the baleful weeds, grasses and pollens there displayed in colored reproductions. The only thing lacking in that exhibit will be a guaranteed, sure-cure remedy for all the different varieties of hay fever. There are plenty of ways to get relief, but no cures. The doctors who finally conquer hay fever will be more popular than the man who builds a better mousetrap than his neighbor.

YOUR THYROID GLAND

"Have you too much activity of thyroid gland in the neck?"

"Then the fires of life burn too fast and easily, the mind is too active in receiving impressions and meets life's troubles more than half-way, as shown by the staring eyes, the trembling hands, and the palpitating heart. Remove a portion of this thyroid gland and the wheels of life move with more smoothness and content."

"Possess too little thyroid gland: the fires of life become a smoulder, you are cold in body and mind, you are a dullard in feeling and appearance, slow in thought, word, and deed."

"Then take thyroid extract and once more you feel—and look—human.

"The active principle of thyroid extract thus determines your weal or woe by having either the right amount, or too much or too little."

I am quoting the words of Lord Dawson, the king's physician as part of his presidential address to the British Medical Association.

This should explain to you why in the serious cases of goitre—inflammation of the thyroid gland—when rest, iodine, and even X-ray are of no avail, that surgery itself may not give satisfactory results.

You can see from Lord Dawson's statement that if just the right amount of the gland is removed by surgery the patient's heart will slow up to normal, there will be little if any trembling of the hands, and the digestive disturbances will disappear. If not enough is removed he will still retain some of these symptoms, and may feel discouraged.

But what happens when, in an endeavor to make it unnecessary to operate twice (remove one portion and then later remove another) the surgeon removes too much of the thyroid gland?

The patient becomes a little slow mentally and physically, may put on too much weight; in fact his whole appearance may change from a slender, nervous, active individual to one who is heavy, placid, and lazy.

As you know this condition in the thyroid gland which makes surgery necessary may be caused by infection anywhere in the body—teeth, tonsils, gall bladder, intestine—or by some emotional disturbance.

It is gratifying to know that by removing any infective condition, and by mental and physical rest, most of these thyroid conditions can be cured.

STONE RIDGE.

Stone Ridge, July 28.—The chicken supper served at the Reformed Church on Wednesday evening was a great success. A crowd much larger than was anticipated enjoyed the delicious supper. Due to the large patronage several did not receive the amount due them. In all there were 343 served. Many who attended from Kingston and other places commended the people of the church for their delicious supper and expressed the desire to attend another supper when served. The people of the church wish to extend their sincere thanks to all who attended or aided in making the supper a success, and seek their future hold and patronage.

Miss Evelyn DuBois of Kingston is spending a few days at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Crawford.

Mr. and Mrs. John De Meester and daughters, Ruth and Marion, Miss Violet Smith and Miss Alberta Van Tol motored from Paterson, N. J., on Wednesday to attend the supper at the Reformed Church. Mr. and Mrs. De Meester returned home on Thursday morning. The girls will spend a few days with the Rev. and Mrs. C. Van Tol.

Lester Rosen of White Plains was a guest at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Rosen, for a few days.

August 17 to 19, has been set as the dates of the annual sale of fancy articles and food stalls of the Ladies' Aid of the Reformed Church. There will be many useful and fancy articles on sale and the ladies will be glad to accommodate all who attend.

There will be a special service at the Reformed Church on Sunday evening at 7, standard time. Dr. James Cantine will have charge of the service. Dr. Cantine will tell what the Arab thinks of the missionary. He will impersonate an Arab gentleman of the present day in Bagdad and give his reactions to the several missionary agencies he meets in his home life. He will wear a full Arab costume during the service. Having spent the greater part of his active career among the Arabs, Dr. Cantine is backed by a rich and broad experience. It will be both an interesting and instructive evening. The public is cordially invited to attend. The meeting will be in the Sunday School room.

Services will be held at the usual time at the Reformed Church on Sunday. Sunday School will be held at 9 o'clock. Morning worship at 10 o'clock. The pastor, the Rev. C. Van Tol, has chosen as his theme "The Christian Adventure." Due to the special service in the evening, conducted by Dr. James Cantine, the Christian Endeavor meeting will be omitted.

Miss Anna Searle of Kingston is a guest at the home of Miss K. H. Cantine.

The Rev. and Mrs. C. Van Tol were dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. F. Kristeller at Dreamland Farms on Sunday last. The preaching service at 2 o'clock was in charge of Mr. Van Tol.

Mr. and Mrs. Willis DuBois of Kingston were week-end guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. Crawford.

The HIDDEN DOOR

BY FRANK L. PACKARD

SYNOPSIS: Reddy Turner, drunk, goes back to a Colin Hewitt the story of his father's death at the hands of a mysterious criminal called the Mask. Colin is a writer of detective fiction, and is not surprised to learn that Reddy expects to track down and kill the Mask, who rules many criminal gangs through underlings who each only know as much of the organization as only one of the members does. Sergeant Colin and Reddy so surprise them after a third knock. "Colonel Hargreaves" enters, for Colin has made many down-and-out men as his guests for material. Exit Hargreaves as the Mask; he shoots down Reddy, and wounds Colin. Colin weakly drags himself to the telephone and calls the police.

Chapter Five

THE POLICE ANGLE

DETECTIVE SERGEANT TIM MULVEY, who was one of those police "pals" of Colin to whom Reddy had referred, was in charge of the case. He sat now where Reddy Turner had sat nearly a month ago in the deep leather-upholstered lounging chair, facing Colin across the latter's desk. And again it was near midnight.

Colin's face, thin and drawn, showed the marks of a long illness. As a matter of fact he had hovered between life and death with the odds heavily against him for a matter of ten days. It was only that morning he had been discharged from the hospital—with very definite instructions to go slow and take the utmost care of himself until he was back to normal again.

"Alias the Mask, I believe," said Colin.

They were discussing the case. From the night of the murder the police had got nowhere.

"If you ask me"—Detective Sergeant Mulvey swung the stub of a thick cigar from one corner of his mouth to the other—"Reddy handed you a fairy tale. This bird ain't anything like that. When we get him you'll see he's nothing more than a dirty rat in a small way of business that keeps under cover from his own gang in order to save his own hide, and the gang falls for the mysterious unknown who yanks the strings, and eats it all up alive—the way your readers do."

"I don't agree with you," Colin replied bluntly. "Tim, he was so hot on the Mask's track that night that it cost him his life. Can't you let that sink in?"

"SURE, I can!" returned Detective Sergeant Mulvey gruffly. "It's the old, old story! To hell with the police! Reddy, on a lone hunt, was after the guy that bumped off his pal and killed his sister. Finally, just when he thinks that in another twenty-four hours or so he'll be pumping the man full of holes, the other gets him first. That's all right! But it doesn't mean that this Mask gazebo is the one and only! Reddy got excited when he stumbled on that Mask stuff, that's all."

"And again I disagree," returned Colin calmly. "Reddy wasn't the kind to get excited that way."

"Oh, well" — Detective Sergeant Mulvey shrugged his big shoulders —"let that go! You'll see!"

"When?" inquired Colin blandly.

The thrust went home.

"Damn it!" snapped Detective Sergeant Mulvey. "I don't know, do I? We're doing all we can. I'm not making any bones about it to you. So far the case is a total loss."

"Which rather goes to prove, doesn't it," Colin suggested quietly, "that there is at least some basis of fact in Reddy's assertion and that you are dealing with an unusual situation? You've had dozens of gangsters up for questioning, and they were all deaf in both ears when any mention of the Mask was made. And yet the Mask exists and was certainly known by that name to some of those men."

"It is true that Reddy must have come pretty close to unearthing his enemy, otherwise no attention would have been paid to him. I am thoroughly convinced that all he said was literally true."

"It's too bad he hadn't spilled a little of it, then!" granted Detective Sergeant Mulvey. "Not to the police, of course! No fear! The 'Reddys' are all alike. But to you."

"Granted," agreed Colin. "But he didn't. He told you everything Reddy said about him, and so far you——"

THE telephone was ringing. Colin reached across the desk and picked up the receiver.

"Yes? Hello?" he said—and then his jaws clamped suddenly together. Over the wire came that unforgettable voice with its quaver and Southern drawl.

"Mr. Colin Hewitt?"

"Yes!" Colin bit off the word.

"Hargreaves speaking. Colonel by courtesy, sir. But perhaps you had already recognized my voice?"

"I had!" said Colin grimly. "Alias the Mask, I believe. Any name will do." He glanced at Detective Sergeant Mulvey. At the mention of the Mask, the Homicide bureau man had started up abruptly from his chair and had stepped to the edge of the desk. "Sorry you haven't come around in person, but it's a pleasure to hear your voice once more."

"I doubted at one time, sir," drawled the voice, "if you ever would again. I had no intention of merely wounding you that night, but nevertheless I have called you up now to congratulate you on your return to health, sir."

"It is really too good of you," said Colin evenly.

"And also for another reason—to express the hope that your recovery will be permanent. I shot you because of the possibility that your friend Reddy might have unduly confided in you in respect of myself. Since then I have watched with interest the activities of the police. It is axiomatic that you would have confided in the police; but the actions of the police have been so ridiculous, that I am convinced you had nothing intimate to impart. It therefore gives me great pleasure to say that you have nothing more to fear from me."

"Again this is really too good of you," Colin said levelly.

"Provided," the voice drawled on, "that you do not meddle. I think, sir, that you would be much better advised to go away somewhere for your health rather than spend your time with Detective Sergeant Mulvey. You might be led into temptation—in which case I assure you, sir, you will not live 24 hours. I think that is all, except to ask you to convey my compliments to Detective Sergeant Mulvey, who, I am informed, is again with you tonight after the three hours, doomed from the outset to futility, which you spent together in the rogues' gallery at headquarters this afternoon. Good night."

There came a faint click from the other end of the wire. Colin faced Detective Sergeant Mulvey.

"The Mask—eh?" grunted the other.

"Yes."

The MARSEILLAISE

by ROUGET de LISLE

CLAUDE JOSEPH ROUGET DE LISLE was a French captain of engineers. His company was about to leave for Paris, and on the evening of April 24, 1792, Mayor Diedrich of Strasbourg gave a public farewell banquet for the volunteers. In the patriotic excitement, the mayor asked de Lisle to compose a marching song, and in one night de Lisle wrote the words and music for "The War Song of the Rhine Army," as he called it.

The striking words and fiery music of the song aroused enthusiasm everywhere. Two months later, it was taken up by a Marseilles regiment, Barbaroux's 'Six Hundred,' and sung by them as they entered Paris in July, 1792. The hymn became identified with the Marseilles soldiers, hence its name, the "Marseillaise," and was finally accepted as the French national anthem.

Rouget de Lisle was thrown in jail the following year for his republican leanings but the counter revolution set him free. On July 14, 1915, the French Government honored him by removing his body to Paris, where, with an impressive ceremony, it was placed in the Hotel des Invalides.

POLITICS at Random

By BYRON PRICE
(Chief Of Bureau, The Associated Press Washington)

THE news that Republican Chairman Sanders has decided to go abroad, adjourning his party reconstruction conferences for the present, means more than might be supposed.

Mr. Sanders is not just taking a summer vacation. He is following the advice of important republicans who favor sitting tight until it develops how the Roosevelt administration handles the problems just ahead of it.

The administration itself would be the last to deny that such problems exist or that their solution will be politically important.

Gen. Hugh Johnson, the industries chief, stated one of them plainly when he said something must be done at once to increase buying power—that is, to get more money into the hands of consumers so they can pay the higher prices generally foreseen.

Another high official, speaking privately, pointed to an entirely different type of problem. He conceded that, even with redoubled vigilance, the spending of the vast sums authorized by congress might be expected to involve some misfeasance, human nature being what it is. He added a prayer that, if scandals develop, they all be little ones.

The Navy's Happy

The navy is one branch of the government where things distinctly are looking up.

It has a friend in the presidency in the person of a former assistant naval secretary. It will get some long-hoped-for ships under the public works program. It has a new and popular "boss officer" now that Admiral Standley has become chief of operations. And it sees nationalism sticking out all over the Roosevelt policies and thinks the season of ship-scrapping is over for a long time to come.

The same upturn of morale is not apparent in the army. Secretary Dern didn't get what he wanted from the public works strong-box. Besides, the staff isn't sure who its "boss officer" will be once the new administration gets oriented.

General MacArthur's term as chief of staff runs for a long time yet, but old army men wouldn't be surprised to see the general step aside shortly.

Will They Rent, Too?

Predictions that the anti-prohibition organizations will be out of jobs by Christmas shouldn't be taken too literally.

They should be considered along with promises of the drys that the battle against legalized liquor will be resumed at once if and when the amendment is repealed.

After prohibition was adopted the Anti-Saloon league and other dry organizations became generally inactive. Now, as repeal breaks into the old dry strongholds of the south, they are accusing themselves and each other of having fallen victim to over-confidence.

It is not likely that anti-prohibitionists will make the same mistake. They need not be expected to strike their tents, whatever happens. It is easy to see that organized effort on both sides of this controversy will be a part of the American social system for many more years.

A Boon To Reporters

The elaborate publicity proclivities of the Roosevelt regime have been a god-send to that numerous band of unemployed newspaper people in Washington.

First, Mrs. Roosevelt's press conferences gave jobs to a large bevy of girl reporters. Now, with new press relations sections springing up everywhere, the corridors of the National Press club are echoing again with that old inquiry, "Do you know of a good man—"

"LET THE PEOPLE CHOOSE" HITLER ADVICE TO NAZIS

Berlin (AP)—Adolf Hitler holds "the commercial spirit" responsible for what he terms "Germany's proverbial lack of political leadership."

Such leadership, he said, addressing a nazi meeting here, had not reached the high level of achievement attained in other fields of German endeavor, because statesmanship had been left to the commercially successful class.

He said that in general the people bring forth the greatest leaders because they instinctively put the right man in the right job.

Wodehouse Yarn At Elverhoj Theatre

"Chance neither women nor linen nor candle-light," reads an old German adage, but Josef, butler to his highness, Prince Rudolf Haseldorf-Schlobitten, was charmed by the voice on the telephone and during his master's absence invited the pleasant voice to visit him in the prince's apartment. The prince, called away for the evening, unexpectedly returns and being a sport assumes the role of valet so Josef may act the "prince" and have his opportunity to make love to a "lady".

But other complications arise, and the P. G. Wodehouse translation of the German play, "Candle-light," by Siegfried Geyer bristles with humorous situations and clever lines under the acting of the University Players at the Elverhoj Theater, near Milton.

The play will continue the remainder of the week, and will be followed next week by the comedy "Whistling in the Dark," made famous by Ernest Truex.

The cast of characters for "Candle-light" is as follows:

Josef, the valet ..... A. Gripton-Cunningham
Prince Rudolf Haseldorf-Schlobitten ..... Peter G. Meek
Marie ..... Frances Armstrong
Liserl ..... H. Grace Baer
Baron Von Reichenheim ..... Ralph Radcliffe
A waiter ..... J. Ewing Kennedy
Baroness Von Reichenheim ..... Lucette Parker

Shurter Takes Over Old Merritt Market

John L. Shurter will take over the Frank Merritt meat market at St. James street and Prospect street the first of the week and will continue to conduct this old-established business which for many years has been noted for the high quality of its products. The quality market policy which was established by the late Mr. Merritt will be continued.

John Wendland who was formerly connected with the market for 32 years during Mr. Merritt's ownership will be in charge of the market for Mr. Shurter. Mr. Wendland is an expert bologna and sausage maker, having occupied that position with Mr. Merritt who built up an exceptional business in this line of meats during the time Mr. Wendland worked for him.

Market for Fruits And Vegetables

New York, July 28—State Department of Agriculture and Markets—The snap bean market was slightly stronger, but only on fine quality tender offerings. Upstate green mountains sold as high as $1.60 per bushel. Champion $1.25; Fava $1.75; green round stringless $1.50; wax and valeatine $2.00.

Arrivals were fairly liberal on lettuce and romaine but trading was moderate. Crates of two dozen heads of big Boston lettuce and Romaine peddled out at principally 25c-50c. Some attractive quality, however, realized 60 cents and 65 cents.

Most of the state peas brought 75 cents—$1.00 per bushel. Washington peas wholesaled at $1.25-$1.37½.

Active demand combined with only light receipts resulted in a further advance on mushrooms. Hudson Valley whites in 2 lb. basket sold from $1.25-$1.75, occasionally $2.00-$2.25. But poorer ranged from 50 cents to $1.00.

Western cauliflower values tended downward, but Catskill Mountain price fluctuations were few and small. Crates from the Pacific coast states jobbed out from $1.25-$1.75, whereas a large volume of the sales on Catskill mountain cauliflower were made within the range of $1.00-$2.25 per crate.

Fruits:

Apples:—Hudson Valley: Bushel basket: Yellow transparent, N. Y. U. S. Grade No. 1, 2¼ inch and upward $1.25-$1.50, 2¼ inch and upward $1.00-$1.25, 1¾ inch and upward 75, unclassified, 2 inch and upward 50c-75c. Various other early varieties, bushel basket, No. 1, 2 inch and upward 50c-$1.00. Half bushel basket 25c-50c, mostly 35c-50c.

Blackberries: Hudson valley, quart basket, 12½c. Black caps, pint basket, 7-8c.

Cherries: Hudson valley, sour varieties, quart basket, mostly 7-8c. Four quart basket, red, 35-45c. Black, 25-40c, mostly 30-40c. Western New York sour varieties, four quart basket, 35-40c.

Currants: Hudson valley, quart basket, red, 7-8c; best, 8-9c.

Gooseberries: Hudson valley, quart basket, mostly ordinary quality, 8-12c.

OIL MOGUL, SAFE IN CHINA, DEFIES U. S.

Alleged Swindler Claims Canadian Citizenship.

Shanghai—Athens, Greece, famed city of the Near East, may have its Samuel Insull, but Shanghai, equally famed city of the Far East, now has its C. C. Julian. Julian, late of Oklahoma City, Los Angeles, Vancouver, and other undesignated points, arrived in Shanghai about a month ago and registered at a leading hotel using the name T. R. Kieg. Aside from the pseudonym, Julian made little effort at concealment. He went places and saw things, particularly those things and places designated by the tourist agencies as Shanghai's "night life."

His real identity was disclosed to the local American authorities by a Russian private detective, who applied to Dr. George Sellett, United States district attorney, for the $5,000 reward which was offered by the Oklahoma authorities for information leading to Julian's arrest.

Canadian Passport.

But those who went to an expensive room in Shanghai's leading Cathay hotel in the expectation of arresting Julian and obtaining the $5,000 reward, came away empty handed. Julian produced a Canadian passport, claimed Canadian citizenship and when the newspaper correspondents arrived on the scene, he poured each a liberal portion of whisky-soda and declared, "You can tell the United States to go to h—l. I'm a Canadian citizen and try and get me."

Julian denied swindling anybody, explaining that the oil "game" in the United States is quite similar to "gold rushes" where people must take chances. "In September, 1929, I was unfortunate enough to lose $12,000,000 in one deal. Looking for a place to recoup, I went to Oklahoma City and formed the C. C. Julian and Royalties company, which was evaluated by the American Appraisal company within eleven months at $11,000,000. But bad luck came my way and my company was forced into bankruptcy, and I was indicted by the federal government.

Claims He's Penniless.

"We were fighting five court cases, one of which was in Texas and another in Oklahoma City. I engaged lawyers to represent me, but soon discovered I was being betrayed. I decided it would be foolish for me to remain and be the goat in that Oklahoma City field episode, hence I decided to leave the country and come to Shanghai. My trial was scheduled to begin on February 6, but I departed the day before, traveling to the Orient by way of Vancouver. While in Japan I was considerably worried by being followed by secret police, but ceased to worry when I learned it was a custom of the country. I like Shanghai fine. It is wet and has many interesting forms of recreation. As soon as I decide what form of business to engage in I intend to recoup my fortune. Later I may return to the United States. Now I am penniless."

However, he has retained a battery of local European attorneys and intends to fight extradition proceedings.

In coming to Shanghai, Julian apparently was well advised, for Shanghai comes under what is popularly known as foreign extraterritorial jurisdiction. Foreigners residing in Shanghai generally are not subject to Chinese courts, but to the courts of the country to which they claim nationality.

Unless Julian has committed a crime in Canada he cannot be extradited to that country, and since his alleged crime was committed in the United States there doesn't appear to be any legal machinery whereby Canadian or British officials in China can turn him over to American officials in China for transportation to the United States.

To Sell 7,000 Acres of Wheat Land at Auction

Tulia, Texas—A wheat king's domain of between 7,000 and 8,000 acres of rich Texas Panhandle land will go on the auction block here August 1. Hickman Price, former New York newspaper executive and widely-known business leader, will offer the land for sale to satisfy claims of creditors.

Price gained recognition as the world's largest wheat farmer several years ago when he put 22,000 acres under the plow, operated a farm on big-business scale and without the use of animal power. The 1931 crop from the Price ranch of 500,000 bushels was harvested with fifty combines, which operated night and day. Drought swept the Panhandle last year and the crop was small. Foreseeing ruination of his enterprise, Price called creditors together last fall, volunteering a plan whereby the ranch would be divided to renters and promised to repay all creditors. The Price holdings extended over two Texas counties, Swisher and Deaf Smith.

Elephant Regulates Clocks

Fort Worth, Texas.—Queen Tut, an elephant of the Forest Park zoo here, is credited with keen powers of time-keeping. Nearby factories regulate their noonday whistles by Queen Tut's trumpet, which has never been known to be off time.

Indians Still Hold Rice Field

Ashland, Wis.—Chippewa Indians on the Bad River reservation still possess the 2,000 acre wild rice field from which they drove the Sioux Indians nearly 300 years ago.

"Pigeon's Milk"

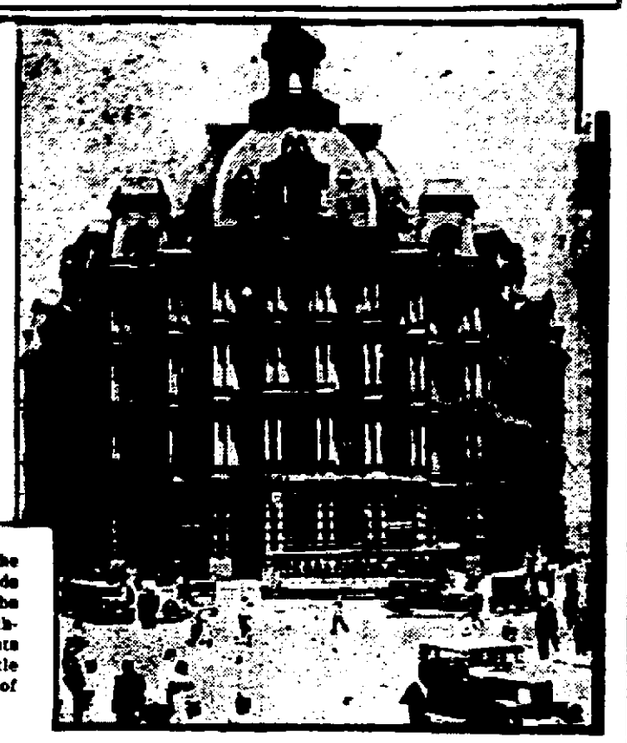
Baby pigeons are fed by a peculiar secretion of the parents' crop known as "pigeon's milk." The parent bird's method of feeding its offspring consists in thrusting its beak into that of the young bird and ejecting this secretion therein.

She Says Uncle Sam's Building Stands on Her Land



HERE are Mrs. Sarah Jane Flaherty and the New York post office which, she says, stands on land that Uncle Sam has been using for the past sixty years, on an old family lease, without paying rent. She claims that old documents now on file in Washington give her clear title to land which has an estimated value of $10,000,000.

State Owns Part of County

The state of Michigan owns 166,191 acres in Chippewa county, or more than one-sixth of the entire county.

Ancient Spanish Cannon

A bronze Spanish cannon of 1656 was recently found in the harbor of Santa Cruz.

Locate Long-Lost Quarry

A long-lost quarry has been found in Egypt, unknown for some 3,500 years.

In New Zealand, deer, imported years ago, have become such a menace that the state pays a bounty for each one killed.

Race Building as Public Weal Urged by Nazis

By JOHN A. ROCMAN.

Berlin (AP)—Emphasizing the nation's declining birth rate, the Nazi regime of Adolf Hitler has started a campaign of education aimed at more and better babies for Germany.

Earnest appeals for well filled cradles have been directed especially toward the rural population, "for", says one of the official communiques, "a nation can survive all blows of fate if its peasant stock is sound."

Claims National Right.

"What is imperatively needed is a constant healthy reinforcement of the peasantry," said Wilhelm Frick, Prussian minister of the interior. "It was so in the time of Frederick the Great, when the cry was 'the king needs soldiers,' and it is so now.

"The state has the right to demand from those who till the soil that they shall produce healthy offspring and plenty of them."

Frick made this statement in addressing the first meeting of a commission of experts on population and racial policy.

He began by pointing out that the number of births in Germany had declined from 2,000,000 per annum 30 years ago to 975,000.

The birth rate of 26 a thousand has dropped to 15. The average German family has shrunk from 3 or 4 children to one or no child.

Judaism Or Increase.

"A most important and alarming feature of the present situation," Frick continued, "is the mating of the body of mentally deficient.

"Some authorities place the proportion of hereditary unsound in Germany as high as 50 per cent of the whole population. It would seem that sound stock is shrinking from generation to generation and is doomed to die out. That would be the end of German culture.

"From an agrarian state we have changed to an industrial state. The industrialization of the nation has brought in its wake money worship, individualism, class antagonism, Marxism, communism and the decline of family life.

"Public opinion applauds woman in business and sports. It takes but little interest in the wife and mother. We shall change all that."

Denies "Moslem Chastity."

Frick said that each criminal costs the state 2.5 marks, each insane 4 marks, each cripple, person or deaf mute 5 to 6 marks a day, whereas the unsullied laborer had to be content with a wage of 2.5 marks and the lower class employe or official with 4 marks.

"Modern humanitarianism which allows the weak and degenerate to propagate their kind is nothing else than cruelty to the nation," he asserted. "We shall refuse to be bound by maudlin notions of charity or by effete church dogmas."

"Husbands," Frick insisted, "must be given jobs, and wives must get back to housework. The big family ideal must be revived throughout the land.

"Too long a period of professional training is just as bad for the money founding of a family as for women that given up to sports."

New York Payments Are Increased 21%

Life Insurance Companies Pay Out Over Four Billion Dollars To Policyholders And Beneficiaries In 1982. National Increase 13 Per Cent.

New York state life insurance policyholders and beneficiaries were paid $625,000,000 in 1933 according to the special "Life Payments Local[ized]" number issued today by the National Underwriter weekly insurance newspaper. This was an increase of $111,000,000 or 21 per cent more than the 1932 total of $514,000,000, the largest amount of increase of all states. New York ranked first in the payments among all states while it is first in population, the per capita being $48.8 the largest of all states.

In Kingston during 1933 claims amounting to $1[illegible] were paid. The largest claims classified as follows: One claim of $10,021 was paid; claims of from $5,000 to $[illegible] and amounting to $[illegible]; two claims of $2,500, totaling $5,000; and nine $1,000 claims amounting to $9,[illegible].

In Saugerties during 1933 claims amounting to $[illegible] were paid. The largest claims were classified as follows: One amounting to $[illegible]; one claim of $2,500 and four $1,000 claims amounting to $[illegible].

Grocer—Would you like some wax beans?

Sweet June Bride—Go away with your lousy imitations. I want real ones.

We should be very careful to distinguish between a bread line and the pie counter, even though certain values are common to both.

Doctor—Medicine won't help you any. What you need is a complete rest and change of living. Get away to some quiet country place for a month. Go to bed early, eat simple foods, drink plenty of good rich milk, and smoke just one good cigar a day.

A month later the patient walked into the doctor's office. He looked like a new man and the gratified doctor told him so.

Patient—Yes, doctor, your advice certainly did the business. I went to bed early and did all the things you told me. But, say, doctor, that one cigar a day almost killed me at first. It's no joke starting to smoke at my age.

Moral—Treat 'Em Rough!

To get my way I oft proceed
By weeping in your presence,
Or wheedling you till you concede
Reluctant acquiescence;
I feel elated when I win,
But afterwards—it's funny—
I wish you hadn't given in,
You ought to boss me, Honey.

GAS BUGGIES—Such Modesty.

A Washington Daybook

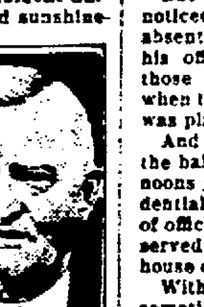
By HERBERT PLUMMER

WASHINGTON—Word drifts up from Texas that Vice President Garner is "bass-catching and sunshine-basking" down home, far from the storm and strife of the capital.



JOHN N. GARNER

Indications are that his ease will be interrupted only once within the next few months. "Pa" Ferguson, former governor of Texas and husband of the present one, on his recent trip to Washington, intimated that "Cactus Jack" will mount the stump some time in the near future and say something to help the cause of repeal of the eighteenth amendment along down in the Lone Star state.

However, that's "Pa" Ferguson's view. The vice president hasn't said yet whether he will or not.

Garner has given the impression since March 4 that, after all, the detachment from governmental affairs that is necessarily the lot of the vice president is not so irksome to him.

One rather imagines he is enjoying it.

Seems To Like It

Much was said and everybody speculated as to how the ruddy-faced, energetic Texan would react to the vice presidency. About everyone agreed that he would find it difficult to settle down in his new job after the exceedingly active life he had led in the house, especially during the last two years when he was speaker.

But it wasn't long before it was noticed that the vice president was absent from the senate chamber and his office on afternoons. Usually those afternoons were the ones when the Washington baseball team was playing on home grounds.

And perhaps if you were around the ball park on one of those afternoons you would see the vice presidential car, with the medallion seal of office on the side, roll into the reserved enclosure back of the club house on time for the game.

With two or three old friends, and sometimes with a red-haired little senate page from Arkansas, out would step the vice president. The first stop always was the peanut stand where everyone in the party loaded up. From there they would go to a box near home plate along the first base line.

Stepping Out

Mr. Garner has found other ways to roam on a pleasant afternoon.

His physical presence at senate sessions all the time is not necessary. As a matter of fact, no vice president has ever attempted to be religious in his attendance. For one thing, he can do nothing but sit and listen. The only time he speaks is when he rules on some point of parliamentary procedure.

So usually the vice president designates some senator to occupy the president's chair when he gets tired. Sometimes as many as half a dozen senators will preside during one afternoon.

If the necessity for his presence in the chamber arises, he is always available. Even if Garner were in his box at a ball game, he could be reached and be at the capitol within 15 minutes.

Rip Takes Charge

By MARY GRAHAM BONNER

When Rip told the Ducks what had happened they started to cry so hard that it seemed to Rip as though the water in the pond grew higher.

"You'll do as I suggest, won't you?"

"Quack, quack, you can depend on us," the Ducks quackingly sobbed and their big tears dropped like raindrops. Poor Rip felt so sorry for them.

Next he called on Christopher Columbus Crow, who had come down from his nest now that the stranger had left Willy Nilly's.

"Caw, caw, I'll certainly do what you ask," Christopher agreed after Rip had talked to him.

Then Rip trotted up to the cave to see the Bears and he told them what had happened.

Their hearts were heavy as they thought of this latest trouble that had come to Puddle Muddle, but when Rip told them his idea they felt better.

"We'll certainly do as you suggest," they promised Rip. He felt so much braver now that all of Puddle Muddle was joining with him in his plan.

Next he called on Top Notch, the Rooster, who was looking at himself in his little mirror.

"Stop looking at yourself, you vain creature," barked Rip. "We're all in trouble." And he told Top Notch what he wished him to do.

"You can depend on me," Top Notch said, with a flourish of his red comb.

The stranger had put up his tent. Willy Nilly could see it from his porch, but why didn't Rip and the others come back? This was a night they should all stay together, and here he was all alone.

Tomorrow—"Around The Tent"

BALTIC STATES AIR MINDED AS CIVIL AVIATION GROWS

Helsingfors (AP)—Civil aviation is developing rapidly in the Baltic.

Sweden's air routes reported a big increase in passenger traffic compared with 1932. Now the Helsingfors-Stockholm service says it conveyed 100 per cent more passengers in the first half of 1933, while the Stockholm-Malmo-Amsterdam route showed an increase of 63 per cent.

Finland's first civil aviation school has opened with an unexpectedly large number of student pilots.

The tallest member of the forest camps in the west is Samuel Carmack, 21, of Fort Worth, Tex., who's 7 seven feet.

Talks to parents

Forced To Learn

By BROOKE PETERS CHURCH

The other day a little 12-year-old girl ran away from home.

She did not run far, nor was she gone long, but her disappearance caused some comment and bewilderment, since she had always seemed reasonably happy, and lived in a very congenial atmosphere.

It was a friend of her own age who unconsciously gave the solution of the problem.

"Kitty had to listen to current events every night on the radio, and she didn't want to. I wouldn't want to have to do it either."

It was an illuminating explanation. Often it happens that a child rebels at reading a certain book because he is told that it is instructive and part of his cultural equipment.

Had he happened upon the book himself, he probably should have read and enjoyed it, but when it is labeled educational and made a duty he instinctively shuns it.

Enforced doses of knowledge outside prescribed school hours are not only abhorrent to the normal child, but actually do him little or no good. He will allow such knowledge to pass in at one ear and out the other without any perceptible reaction to it.

Whether it is inscribed in his impressionable little brain despite himself is hard to say.

In any event, far more noticeable than any benefits derived from enforced knowledge, are the concomitant evils of wrangling and misery and the definite aversion to certain phases of cultural development which are often the result.

Many things can be made acceptable to adults as well as children when they are received subconsciously and do not have to overcome an initial resistance. As the little girl said, "They're interesting if you don't have to listen."

OCEAN GIVES UP VILLAGE OFF COAST OF MALABAR

Bombay (AP)—A fishing village near Tillicherry, North Malabar, with a temple at one end, was submerged by the sea in 1895.

With the coming of the 1933 monsoon the village gradually is being uncovered.

An extensive stretch of sand has emerged connecting the site of the village with the mainland and people are visiting it searching for relics.

HOLLYWOOD SIGHTS and SOUNDS

By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—Studio purchasing agents are wishing there were some way to forestall the spread of "picture wisdom."

"Picture wisdom" didn't exist in the old days, and when a movie company wanted to buy something it liked it stood a chance of getting it for a reasonable figure. The movies then didn't have the gilded reputation for great wealth that is one of their burdens now.

Time was when a film company could go out on the highways and byways, set up its cameras, and "shoot" any scene it liked—any scene within reason, as long as it didn't interfere with anybody. The novelty of picture actors in the flesh, the glamour of picture doings, was all the pay exacted by property owners whose places were used as sets.

Now It's Different

But the country has become "picture wise."

"That's why we had to pay $100 the other day," moaned one studio man, "to shoot one scene on a lady's front lawn. We didn't hurt anything, and she got a kick out of having us there, but as soon as she learned we were from a studio the price was a hundred bucks.

"I used to be able to pick up an old-fashioned stagecoach, for westerns, for $75 to $100," his lament continued. "Try to get one now, though, and it's $2,500, right off the bat.

"The things do have historical value nowadays. Still, I remember one, a real relic, whose owner said I could have it for taking it off his place."

It's Contagious

Los Angeles and surrounding towns long ago became "picture wise," and the wisdom is spreading, even into San Francisco and San Diego.

There are numerous instances like the pawn-broker who offered pistols for $5 apiece until he learned they were for pictures. Then he discovered his mistake, they were really $7.50.

One producer paid a merchant $100 to compensate him for "business lost while company used store for pictures"—this after the agreed rental had been paid.

But even the kids are picture wise now. A beach location was almost ruined by youngsters who found they couldn't keep quiet during recording—until the assistant director had slipped them a dollar apiece!

New York's Underground Workers

In New York city some 350,000 people work underground. The majority of buildings in the business section have basements and sub-basements and some of the skyscrapers extend six stories below the street level.

"Walking Fish"

Visitors to Pitch Lake, Trinidad, sometimes see the curious "walking fish," which has a habit of deserting dried-up water holes in the asphalt and "walking" across to "wet" water holes.

Kingston: "Reunion in Vienna." Perfectly swell entertainment is this lavishly done and brilliantly acted comedy that has the fading glory of the regal Hapsburgs as its plot basis. Almost word for word, the movie version is the same as the stage play that proved so wildly popular, and if anything, the cinema offering outshines the legitimate success. John Barrymore, in the role of the madcap Archduke Rudolf, is perfect in the down at heel role of a great nobleman, now turned taxi-driver since the war. Along with the other remnants of a once great and flowering Austrian nobility, Archduke Rudolf and his tottering compatriots decide to have a reunion in Vienna to celebrate the birthday of Emperor Francis Joseph. Complications arise when a former sweetheart of the Archduke, now married to another, meets her former lover in a romantic Vienna setting. Sparkling, gay, witty, and lavish, this talkie has everything to make it appealing and enjoyable. John Barrymore was never better cast nor more capable than in the tailor cut role of the dashing Rudolf, while Diana Wynyard as his former princess-sweetheart is charming. Characterizations by Frank Morgan, Una Merkel, Henry Travers and May Robson are treats in themselves. Four star entertainment.

Orpheum: "The Cohens and Kellys in Trouble" and "The Cheyenne Kid." Charles Murray and George Sidney carry on their friendly bickering in this comedy of harrowing experiences, romance and laughter, while the second program feature brings Tom Keene in a rough and tumble "wildwester" with all the embellishments.

Broadway: "Out All Night." Genuine comedy by those two excellent performers, Zasu Pitts and Slim Summerville, along with a laughable story, makes this picture well worth viewing. Slim Summerville, in the role of a pampered mama's boy, falls in love with Zasu Pitts, and when they marry, it is essential that mama go along on the honeymoon to be sure that sonny is all right. There are an abundance of chuckles in this talkie, and the work of Mr. Summerville and Miss Pitts is a pleasure to witness. Others in the cast are Laura Hope Crews and Shirley Grey.

Tomorrow

Kingston: "College Humor." Bing Crosby of the crooning complex, George Burns and Gracie Allen, radio's gift of the ludicrous to the screen, along with Jack Oakie, Richard Arlen and Mary Carlisle, are the important links in the merry chain of comedy that is unfolded in this story of college ways, days and what not. Gay and youthful, this show offers some excellent comedy, some enjoyable songs by the one and only Bing Crosby, and some clever dance steps, along with any number of pretty girls. There is scarcity of plot, but a maximum of action. George Burns and Grace Allen were never seen to better advantage in a starring plot, while Jack Oakie proves to be as capable a comedian as ever. Light entertainment that is sure to please.

Orpheum: Same.

Broadway: "Hold 'em Jail." Not the latest of the Wheeler-Woolsey comedy adventures, but even though a little old, it is one of the best. For sheer ridiculousness, this crazy picture will win all honors. Filled with gags, impossible situations and some rare laughs, Wheeler and Woolsey dash hither and yon, getting no place but always finding trouble. There is a scene in which the full football team plays a game, and that is worth seeing all by itself.

ACTIVITIES ENJOYED AT CAMP CRAWFORD.

Brown Station, July 28.—Wednesday night, July 19, Camp Crawford folks attended a house warming party at the new home of Joe Kantor in Atwood. This tiny bungalow nestling among the trees on a hill is a typical artist's home. The big stepping stones lead to the rustic front porch of cedar wood and here one catches a glimpse of the living room, the walls of which are finished with pressed wood. An artistic atmosphere prevails throughout the place. Many of Mr. Kantor's paintings adorn the walls and there are various antique vases and hammered brass platters, all heirlooms of the Kantor family for generations, and were brought to this country from Russia. The cooking is done over a fireplace outdoors.

A delicious spaghetti supper with all the fixings was enjoyed by the guests. Tea was served from an antique Russian samovar.

For entertainment Miss Helen Spielman and Fred Smilow gave an exhibition tango dance. Some of Mr. Kantor's paintings were exhibited and Mr. Smilow read some of his short stories. Mr. Kantor then gave some character sketches, assisted by his sister, Reba. They sang a Russian dance. The evening closed with singing around the campfire.

Last Friday the campers saw "When Ladies Meet" in Kingston.

On Saturday evening some of the guests enjoyed "The Willow Tree" at the Maverick Theatre, after which they dined and danced at "The Tavern" in Woodstock.

Miss Fannie Izzo of Dunellen, N. J., came Saturday to spend her vacation here.

Week-end guests included Mrs. H. Kiem, Alfred Kiem, Miss Veronica Ott of Hoboken, Miss Alice Lane, Matty Lucca, Tommy Jackson of Jersey City.

After a dull rainy day Tuesday, the entire camp enjoyed the delightful "Reunion in Vienna" in Kingston, after which the craving for hamburger and onions led them to a lunch wagon specializing in such delicacies, where their famished appetites were satisfied and their pocketbooks depleted. They sang camp songs all the way home and fell asleep dreaming of hamburg and onions.

Miss Helen Crawford has been called home to Hoboken by the illness of her sister, who with her mother have just returned from the Pocono Mountains in Pennsylvania.

A cool evening invited a marshmallow toast around the huge fireplace in the lodge Wednesday evening. Stunts and camp songs completed the evening's entertainment.

IT'S TOUGH TO BE ROYAL SAYS PRINCESS ALICE

London (AP).—The silence of a long suffering British royal family has been broken by Princess Alice, Countess of Athlone, who protests that its members are not robots with endurance to match.

Substituting at a cornerstone ceremony for the Princess Royal, who was indisposed by the overstrain of numerous engagements, she said:

"The public should not expect the royal family to be endowed with physical endurance they would not expect of any other class of people.

"We are not really robots. But it is our pleasure to help, when we can, all causes to promote welfare or alleviate suffering."

Boston Beauty Conquers Milan

Italian Opera Critics Praise American On Debut.

Milan, Italy (AP)—"Poor little rich girl" is not a term to be applied to beautiful Kathryn Schrafft, 23-year-old daughter of the late George F. Schrafft, Boston manufacturer.

For Kathryn, by making her debut in opera here a great triumph, has demonstrated that even a rich girl can achieve success on her own merits, if she tries hard enough.

Quits College To Sing

Kathryn has been trying hard for six years, beginning with the time when her father, himself a devotee of music, brought her to Milan, rented a furnished apartment and left her here to study opera. Kathryn gave up a college education at Vassar for a possible opera career.

George Schrafft's death a few years later increased his daughter's determination to justify his hopes. From the seed thus sown came the harvest of a triple success at the Teatro Carcano here, when Kathryn sang "Norina" in "Don Pasquale."

Gets Double Encore

Despite the fact of making her debut in Milan, noted for its extremely critical audiences, and despite her decision to appear under her own name, instead of adopting an Italian stage name, as most American singers do here, Kathryn was given an enthusiastic reception.

Next day the newspapers pronounced her a huge success. She was asked to give a matinee performance on the following day, Sunday. This is said to be the first time any American has ever given two successive performances for a debut. Only too frequently they appear once and are never heard from again.

Kathryn was asked to sing again in the same role on the following Thursday evening. The "Corriere della Sera" critic then wrote:

"Even a mediocre singer might have been inspired to attain to heights on her first appearance and have been called a great success. But when such success is repeated three times running, then we know we have a superior voice and a superb artist to consider and are proud to have been the hosts for six years to so talented an American."

The Boston girl now has three offers to sing in various Italian cities this next winter.

Newport Remains Conservatively White

New York—Week-ending at Newport leaves one with a very strong conviction that the women who are really "who's who" socially cling to white. Not that they do not wear color, but the general impression is of white.

Crepe is overwhelmingly approved. At the Casino, Bailey's Beach and the Country Club, white crepe costumes predominate among the fashionable spectators. Chalky crepe registers emphatically, also crepe de chine and crinkly crepe. Jacket suits and fagoting register, the jacket with elbow sleeves. A couple of instances of crepe frocks tucked at the armholes, creating "butterfly" effects at the shoulders.

Color contrast is occasionally introduced in these white gowns through belts or scarfs. Though white hats are preferred, in either fabric or straws, a number of smart women endorse colored hats, especially red or green, with medium brims, with a few examples of very wide brims. Some straws are trimmed with flowers or leaves.

It must be borne in mind that Newport never goes to extremes.

For the occasions when residents, or visitors at this exclusive colony, wear darker clothes, they are inclined still toward crepes, but include the sheer ones especially for such ensembles as the one sketched.

Dots of several sizes, but mostly small, rank high in favor, especially when white on a dark ground. Here, as elsewhere, the dark ground leads, let the pattern be what it may. Here also knitted suits are worn by the most important women.

Among the costumes, knitted jacket suits register, in bouclet, silk knit, frill boucle, ratine, string and angora. Again, white predominates, and again color contrast is introduced through accessories, belts, scarfs, etc. Silk scarfs, plain or dotted, are occasionally complemented by hats of the same fabric and gloves.

THE POINT IS THE NEW SLEEVE TRICK

Copyright, 1933, by Fairchild.

A town ensemble for midseason wear is fashioned of brown sheer crepe, and a shiny accent is provided in the white satin that is used for the collar and cuffs and neckline border. The brief sleeves of the one-piece frock repeat the sleeve detail of the coat.

The Vaporous Quality in A Resort Collection

Paris—In the Louiseboulanger resort collection there are several fresh looking vaporous evening gowns which make use of fabrics a little different from ordinary nets and organdie as well as several in pale shades of silk organdie. One is of a crisp fabric like a coarse organdie flecked by heavier yards; this is in white with tiny shoulder wrap and ruffles up the skirt and around the decollette.

Another is of heavy but crisp net in pink and pale red, the latter used for alternating ruffles up the skirt and over the shoulders, the other ruffles being the same pink as the dress itself.

SNAPPY MILK DRINKS

Here are more delicious and cooling milk drinks recommended by the Consumers Information Service of the New York State Department of Agriculture and Markets. They are quick ways to summer comfort:

ALICE IN WONDERLAND

Boil sweetened fruit juice—peaches, plums, pears, prunes, etc.—to a thick soupy consistency. When cool add this sirup to milk (2 or 3 tablespoonfuls to each glass). Serve with chopped ice.

DEEP RIVER

Add 2 or 3 teaspoonfuls marmalade—cherry, grape, orange—to glass of milk. Shake well. Top with mint leaves.

For additional milk drink recipes, write to the Consumers Information Service, State Department of Agriculture and Markets, Albany, for the booklet "Snappy Milk Drinks."

Soviet May Limit Heels.

Moscow (AP).—Decrying "ridiculous dictates of fashion which call for high heels," the newspaper "Light Industry" has begun a campaign to standardize the height of heels on all women's shoes manufactured in Russia at a fraction over an inch.

First Loaf Goes to Duce.

For Tennis or Golf

This tennis or golf frock is in a sanforized-shrunk jacquard broadcloth called Jacatel. The waist back may be unbuttoned down and the belt carries tees. The design is from Peck and Peck.

OUR DAILY PATTERN.

A Smart New Frock for Youthful Figures.

7912. Plaits are in vogue, and are cleverly expressed in this pleasing two-piece model, forming a peplum for the waist and a flounce for the skirt. The waist is mounted on deep yoke portions, that are finished with a pleasing tie collar. The sleeve is a full puff model. Sheer cotton in white with green dots was used for this frock. Collar and sleevebands are of organdy. Linen, pique, tub silks, and sheer woolen is suggested for this style.

Designed in 6 sizes: 14, 16, 18 and 20, with corresponding bust measure 33½, 35, 36½, 38 and 40 and 42. Size 16 will require 4¼ yards of 35 inch material, together with ½ yard of 39 inch contrasting material for collar and sleevebands. The width at the lower edge of the flounce with plaits extended is 3¼ yards.

A pattern of this illustration mailed to any address on receipt of 12c in coin or stamps by the Pattern Department, The Freeman, Kingston, N. Y. Be sure to state the size wanted.

Motor Vehicle Law On Marginal Lights

In answer to many inquiries from truckmen regarding the new law with reference to marginal lights and reflectors, the Motor Vehicle Bureau sums up the law as follows:

Every truck having a width, inclusive of load, of more than seventy inches must have a red marginal reflector on the left rear and right rear and a yellow marginal reflector on the left front and right front. Every trailer, regardless of width, must have a red marginal reflector on the left rear and on the right rear.

Every motor vehicle, other than a truck, having a width, inclusive of load, of more than eighty inches must, if operated at night, have either a red marginal light on the left rear and a yellow marginal light on the left front or a red marginal reflector on the left rear and right rear and a yellow marginal reflector on the left front and right front.

Marginal lights must be so placed as to indicate the left lateral extension of the vehicle or load while marginal reflectors are required to be so placed that they will show the width of the vehicle. Reflectors on trucks and trailers must be at least three inches in diameter.

MAY MOVE "THE WILLOW TREE" TO VARIOUS OTHER PLACES

The production of "The Willow Tree" at the Maverick Theatre in Woodstock, has created such an interest on the part of all those who have seen it, that there is considerable demand to book the show in communities outside of Woodstock.

Mrs. Weythe of Onteora Park, and the director of the theatre there, saw the production Wednesday night and were so thrilled by it that they immediately sought out Edwin O'Hanlon, manager of the Maverick Theatre, and tried to induce him to send this delightful fantasy on tour to Onteora Park.

It is such an elaborate and expensive production however, that it would be very difficult to move unless the guarantee was sufficient to at least cover expenses.

It is also rumored that there is some talk in Kingston about the production of "The Willow Tree" in Kingston for the Milk Fund benefit.

Wednesday night's benefit for The American Legion was eminently successful.

Next week's production, "The Cat and the Canary," that super-mystery thriller, is rather a startling change from nebulous fantasy to soul-stirring realism.

All Is Hotsie Totsie In Evanston Camp

Instead of Rifles, They Shoulder a Pick or Shovel and Do Useful Forestry Work—Eats Fit For a Sat Too Particular King and More Pay For the Best Men.

Evanston, Wyoming,
July 22, 1933.

Howdy Folks:

This is station C. C. C. announcing through the courtesy of the Kingston Daily Freeman. How is everything in the old home town? Everything is hotsie totsie here in the west. Our new mess hall is completed now. It will seat 200 men at one time. If necessary it will seat more but as it is we have plenty of elbow room. Furthermore, if we spill our soup the chances are it will go in our own lap instead of our neighbor's. What they hand out in that mess hall is fit for a king providing the king is not too particular. Anyway it's better than corned beef and hard tack.

It won't be long now before we will have showers. The shower rooms are in a building 20 by 40 feet. It consists of 15 showers, one wash room, and a dressing room. Eleven hundred feet of pipe carries the water into a 2,000 gallon storage tank. From there it goes to the kitchen and showers. The plumbing work is being done by Lou Deimer of Poughkeepsie with the help of Ray Studt of Kingston.

Twenty-four of the boys are getting a raise in their pay. Ten fellows are getting $15 extra and 14 are getting $6 extra. Those recieving the $15 are leaders of different groups and those receiving $6 extra are the assisting leaders. These men will continue to draw the extra pay providing they are worthy of it as they have already been chosen to be.

We have a horseshoe tournament in progress here. The winning team will be given a carton of cigarettes by Captain Brine. We also have a volley ball tournament of which the winning team will also receive a carton of cigarettes. Doc Grube, one time manager of the Rondout Twirlers, is one of the best players in camp. Frank Sass is not so bad but he could improve a little.

I organized a baseball team called the Carpenter Nine to play the cooks and kitchen police. I am not offering any excuses but if Chet Winnie and Frank Sass had shown up and Bradford had been able to catch the ball once in a while, and DeCicco didn't try to steal second base I don't think they would have beaten us a five to three game.

There is something I would like to put straight in some of your minds. I know that some of you have the idea that we are here to train for war. If that is your idea you are all wrong. The government has worked out a plan to give a lot of jobless young men work and at the same time beautify and protect the forests. We are in what is called the Wasatch National Forest of Utah. A good many years ago there was a great fire here which swept the whole forest. It has all grown up again but it is cluttered up with old dead and burnt wood. What were once roads are all grown over, so it is our duty to build new ones and to clean up the old dead and burnt wood. It is also our duty to fight all forest fires within our jurisdiction.

When you train for war you generally shoulder a gun but we don't as we are not here to train for war. The only thing we shoulder is an axe or a pick and shovel.

Well, folks, I can't think of anything more to say just now so I will close for this time.

Sincerely yours.
BURTON L. BEESMER,
231st. Co. F. C. C. C.,
Box 198
Evanston, Wyoming.

Society Notes

Engagement Announced.

Ellenville, July 28.—Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Polensky of Ellenville announce the engagement of their daughter, Celia, to George Epstein, son of Barnet Epstein of Washington Heights, New York city.

Simpson-Setten.

Miss Margaret Setten of Muskegon, Mich., and Joseph E. Simpson, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Simpson of 57 Lincoln street, this city, were married at the parsonage of the Church of the Comforter, Wednesday evening, July 26, by the Rev. Wilbur F. Stowe. They were attended by Mrs. R. M. Binch, sister of the bridegroom and Richard Priepke of Kingston.

Birthday Party.

A birthday party was held for little Betty Scharp at the home of her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Scharp in honor of her fourth birthday. The home was beautifully decorated, the color scheme being pink and yellow. A dainty lunch was served. Those invited were Natalie Maria Scharp, Evelyn Amanda Ostrander, Sara Alpert, Emma Bauer, Betty Jane Ostrander, Betty and Joan Scharp and Minnie Smith. The children departed wishing Betty many happy birthdays.

UNEMPLOYMENT INSURANCE PLAN PREPARED FOR STATE

The Workers Co-operative Association has adopted a proposition for unemployment insurance for New York state. Palmer Canfield, chairman of the executive committee of the association, was appointed to take up the matter with Governor Lehman and the legislature. Under the proposed plan the state would provide a fund to which the employers and employes would both contribute. If such a plan were adopted and put into effect the present situation involving 1,660,000 persons being dependent upon work or home relief in this state could not occur again. It would prevent a repetition of the people being taxed hundreds of millions of dollars for public relief as in the present economic depression. Mr. Canfield stated that an effort would be made to have the proposed bill brought up at the special session but he doubted if it would be given consideration until the regular session when it is expected to be given serious consideration as a large number of members of the legislature had promised to support it.

LINDBERGHS PLAN TO FLY TO COPENHAGEN

Godthaab, Greenland, July 28 (AP)—Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh, who is here on an aerial map-making expedition, telegraphed an American oil company today requesting the deposit of gasoline and oil at Stavanger, Norway.

After Colonel Lindbergh has flown to Stavanger he will probably go on to Copenhagen.

Returned Home.

Harwichport, Mass., July 28 (AP).—Clinton C. Taylor, Jr., 17, of Mount Vernon, N. Y., returned to his parents' summer residence today after police had broadcast an appeal to locate him. He had been missing since yesterday morning and police said he had spent the time on the Taylor sloop because he was angered by a tiff with a member of his family.

DIED.

KOHLER—Suddenly, in this city, July 27, 1933, Frederick J. Kohler.

Funeral at residence, No. 19 South Wall street, on Saturday at 3 p. m. Relatives and friends are invited. Interment in Wiltwyck Cemetery.

Members of Kingston Lodge, No. 10, F. & A. M., are requested to meet at the lodge rooms Friday evening, July 28, at 7:30 o'clock for the purpose of attending the funeral of our late brother, Frederick J. Kohler.

Financial and Commercial

New York, July 28 (AP).—Financial markets nodded today under the soporific influence of grain price uncertainties and dollar gyrations.

Stocks moved feebly, and generally lower, with the early turnover the smallest since the beginning of the present bull market. Moderate rallies and declines gave the list a spotty appearance throughout. A few of the "wet" stocks came back a bit, as did some of the specialties. The up and down range, however, was usually in the neighborhood of a point. Wheat was reactionary both at Chicago and Winnipeg. Other grains were also soft, as was cotton. Most of these staples later pared their losses. The dollar jumped about 6 cents against sterling, but exhibited less strength against the gold currencies. Bonds were irregular.

Among the mild share gainers were National Distillers, Commercial Solvents, Owen-Illinois, Santa Fe and Liggett & Myers B. Losers of a point or more included International Harvester, Deere, Bethlehem Steel, National Steel, American Can, Case, Johns-Manville, Celanese, Western Union, U. S. Steel, American Telephone, Alaska Juneau, McIntyre Porcupine and Dome Mines.

The stock exchange governors announced that, beginning Monday, the regular hours of business—from 10 a. m. to 3 p. m.—would be resumed, but that all Saturday trading would be suspended up to and including September 2.

Week-end trade reviews stressed the lack of evidence of any reversal in the business trend which has been progresively upward for nearly four months. The normal mid-summer recession, Dun & Bradstreet said, was but faintly discernible in general trade activity.

POULTRY

FRESH RANGE FOR GROWING TURKEYS

Poultry Expert in Warning Against Blackhead.

When young turkeys have reached the age of from eight to ten weeks, move them out to range shelters on clean ground which was free of all poultry, turkeys or poultry manure during the previous year. A good range will afford plenty of green feed, shade and fresh clean water.

"At this season of the year, growers usually begin to have trouble with their poults," says C. F. Parrish, poultry extension specialist at North Carolina State college. "Blackhead begins to develop and this comes, in most cases, from laxity in sanitation. Success with turkeys is dependent upon careful management of the growing poults. Fresh range is essential."

Parrish says much attention must also be given to supplying the right kind of feed. In general, poults have the same nutritive requirements as chicks. A complete growing ration is necessary for best results. Such a ration will include animal protein, grain, milk, green feed, minerals and water. Milk is useful during the first six weeks.

The same commercial feeds recommended for chicks may be used with poults. However, one mash hopper five feet long is needed for each 75 poults. Two one-gallon water founts are also needed for this number of the birds. Place the mash hoppers and water founts on wire covered frames made from 2 by 4 timber.

It requires about 60 pounds of feed, exclusive of green feed, to fulfill the requirements of a poult during the first seven months of its life. By that time, the poult should weigh from 12 to 14 pounds. Always keep turkeys and chickens separated, he advises.

Variety to Choose From in Finding Good Layers

The selection of a breed is often perplexing to a poultry novice. Usually the poultry enthusiast does well to select the one that most appeals to his own fancy. The lightweight Mediterraneans are primarily adapted to egg-laying. This class includes eleven varieties of Leghorns, five of Minorcas, Single and Rose-comb Anconas, White-Faced Black Spanish, Blue Andalusians and Buttercups. The American class contains the middleweight breeds. Those admitted to the American standard of perfection are seven kinds of Plymouth Rocks, eight of Wyandottes, Black and Mottled Javas, Single and Rosecomb Rhode Island Reds, Rosecomb Rhode Island Whites (Single Comb Rhode Island Whites were not admitted to the standard because of a too close resemblance to White Plymouth Rocks), Buckeyes, Chanteclers and Jersey Black Giants. The Asiatics appeal to many fanciers on account of their large size and profuse, soft feathering. The standard lists three varieties of Brahmas, four Cochins, Black and White Langshans. The English division includes three kinds of Dorkings, four of Orpingtons, three Cornish, three Sussex, besides the Australorps developed from English Black Orpingtons in Australia.

Sand for Young Ducks

To hatch a brood of ducks with a hen has always been an interesting stunt with young poultry keepers. The ducklings themselves are most engaging in their ways, and the concern of the mother hen over their taking to the water is amusing. In many cases the pleasure of the owner is spoiled by what seems an unaccountable mortality among the ducklings. Fed the same as young chickens they are apt to collapse within a day or two. The common cause of this is that the feed is too rich for them. They are voracious feeders, and when they fill up with a grain mash are apt to have acute indigestion. The usual method of preventing this is to put coarse sand in the mash the first few days. A good big handful to a quart of mash is sufficient. Mix thoroughly and let the ducks eat all they want.

Weight of Pullets

At six months of age Rhode Island Red and Wyandotte pullets should weigh five and a half pounds; Leghorns, three and a half pounds; Plymouth Rocks, six pounds. They should come into production during the sixth month. A too early maturity is likely to result in small birds and small eggs. While Leghorns usually mature earlier than the heavier breeds, there is evidence that the best of them do not and that the rate of maturity is the same as that for Rhode Island Reds.

Color of Poultry Meat

Americans generally prefer yellow-legged chickens, which also have yellow skin and fat. Englishmen prefer those with white or "flesh-colored" legs, skin and fat. The French want them with bluish black or dark legs and grayish white skin. These national preferences are commonly treated as having no foundation except in custom and tradition, yet they deserve more consideration from poultrymen ambitious to contribute something new to the progress of the industry.

Coach Dogs

The heads of coach dogs are longish, skull flat and the coats are short, hard and dense. The chest should be very deep but not too wide, as these dogs very often run along under the coaches for many miles, hence they must have plenty of lung power and stamina.

In the Mirror

By RUBY DOUGLAS

© by McClure Newspaper Syndicate. WNU Service.

DORIS GRAHAM had returned to spend the summer at the quiet, cliff-built summer resort where she had been so carefree and happy five years before.

"But isn't it a stupid place to live in for three months?" asked her chum in the office.

"It wouldn't suit you," admitted Doris.

"And that dreadful trip every day," commented the other girl.

Doris was not to be discouraged. She wanted to get away from the city.

And so she had established herself in the plain, old country boarding house that she had lived in when her mother was with her and life looked rosy and merry.

Now, she was tired, a trifle discouraged at the lack of variety in her life. There was a vacancy she could not quite analyze but she ascribed it to the fact that she could not get accustomed to living without her dear mother.

On her first free Saturday afternoon, she wandered about the old village streets.

"I'll just go down to the post office to wait for the distribution of the late mail," she said to herself.

It was as she was entering the post office five years ago that she had first seen Archie Olmstead. The thought now quickened her breath, sent that forlorn hurt straight to her heart.

What had become of him? Why had she never heard from him?

How many times she had asked herself that question only to find herself unanswered.

She found a letter for her from the girl in the office who, secretly, would have enjoyed being with Doris, but who hesitated to invite herself.

Doris, thrilled at receiving a letter from the hands of the same postmaster who had stood behind the window thumbing the letters five years before, stood beside the scratched and disfigured wall to read it.

As some one pushed against her, she moved. She bumped her head, ever so slightly, against the corner of the glass-faced wall cabinet that held unclaimed letters.

For a moment she started at the envelopes posted inside. Suddenly she started. There was her own name—Doris Graham.

Hastily, she sought the postmaster and told him that there was a letter in the case that was addressed to her. Together, they got it and Doris fearing, somehow, to read it in the midst of so many eyes as were upon her at this mail hour in the village, put it in her bag.

When she was alone she opened the envelope. It was a letter from Archie. In it, he told her this was the third one he had written and if he received no answer this time he would decide that she had amused herself for a summer by making him fall in love with her.

If she wrote one letter over that week-end to Archie, she wrote a dozen. None suited her. She could not seem to find words in which to tell him all that had been in her thought of him since they had met. She wondered where he was. Could this address be the right one?

On Monday, at the office, she tried again, this time on her typewriter. It was a stupid letter. She destroyed it.

It was still light when she arrived in the country these June nights and she decided that she would be able to pen a short note to Archie if she used the post office pen and ink on the old shelf desk where they had written each other so many tender notes in other days. With a piece of paper in her bag, she went to the post office and wrote to Archie. As she stood looking at the much used blotter on the shelf, her handbag open with its mirrored back, a familiar scrawl was reflected in it.

She held the mirror over the blotted name. Yes, it was his name in his handwriting. Her heart thumped madly. He must be here, in this very town, now. The name had been written that day.

Posting the letter she had written, she hurried back to the boarding house.

When the motherly old landlady came forward, she saw that they had met on the walk leading through the arch of maples. She had remembered their early romance. She was gratified at its renewal.

It took the whole evening to explain the strange tricks Fate had played them during the years of their separation. But the faith of each of them was unshaken and Doris found herself later comparing the great happiness of her present summer with the shallow, frivolous gayety of that holiday five year ago.

"And I knew all the time," Doris heard from her chum at the office, "that there must be some good reason for your craving for that stupid summer resort—some other reason than the country air."

Rain Checks for Automobiles

There is a prevalent superstition among automobile owners that it always rains just after the car has been washed. That is the excuse some drivers have for dirty cars. In Kansas City there is a car-washing plant where a rain check is given with each car-washing operation. If it rains within 24 hours, bring your car back and get another wash.

Oldest of Fine Arts

Architecture is the most ancient of the fine arts. The earliest dated architectural remains are those of the Babylonians, from as far back as 6000 B. C. Their building material was brick and they were the first to construct vaults and arches.

Local Death Record

Marks McCormick died at his home in The Vly on Thursday, July 27, aged 76 years. Funeral services will be held at St. Peter's Church, Rosendale, on Saturday morning, July 29, at 10 o'clock. Interment will be in St. Peter's cemetery, Rosendale.

Ellenville, July 28.—Hannah M. Burgher, widow of Levi Burgher, died at the home of James Wood in Mettacahonts, Friday, July 21, at the age of 85 years. Funeral services were held in the Mettacahonts Hall Monday afternoon. Interment was in Whitfield Cemetery.

Ellenville, July 28.—Selig Axelrod of Brooklyn died at the Western View House at Ulster Heights Tuesday, July 25, at the age of 76 years. He was born in Austria on July 15, 1857, the son of Nachum Axelrod and Sarah Cohen. He was a retired rabbi. His body was taken to New York city the same night and burial was in Washington Cemetery on Wednesday.

Myron Auchmoody of White Plains, N. Y., died at Vassar Hospital in Poughkeepsie, Thursday, July 27, at the age of 73 years. He was the son of the late David A. and Amanda Auchmoody of Pintarch. The funeral will be held at the Salvation Army Hall, 216 Main street, Poughkeepsie, Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock. He is survived by his wife, Emma J.; two sons, Oscar M., and Lester D.; one sister, Martha; two brothers, Abram E. and Herman D., and six grandchildren.

Ellenville, July 28.—Marie Bellman died at her home in this village Friday, July 21, at the age of 23 years, after a long illness. She was born on July 24, 1909, the daughter of Jacob and Mary Yonker Bellman. Surviving besides her parents are four brothers, Peter, John, George and Harold, all of this village. She was a granddaughter of the late Peter Bellman. Funeral services were held Monday in St. Michael's Catholic Church at Ulster Heights, conducted by Father Joseph Geis. Interment was in the Catholic Cemetery at Ulster Heights.

Ellenville, July 28—The funeral of Van R. Moffit, who died Sunday last at his home on Maple avenue after an illness of several months, was held Wednesday morning at 10:30 o'clock from the Ostrander Mortuary chapel and was conducted by the Rev. Alfred M. Wilkins of the M. E. Church. Interment was in the family plot in Grahamsville. A police escort consisting of Chief Richard A. Porter and Officer Frank Groppe led the cortege to the cemetery. He is survived by his widow, a daughter, Alice I. Moffit, at home, a son, Terry Moffit, of New York city, a brother, Wilson B. Moffit, of Wurtsboro and two nephews and a niece.

The funeral of Calvin Satterlee was held at the home of his daughter, Mrs. John H. Garrison, 19 Elmendorf street, on Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock, the Rev. C. E. Rignall, of the Clinton Avenue M. E. Church, of which the deceased was a member, officiating at the services. Mr. Satterlee had reached the ripe old age of over 92 years and his wide acquaintance and sterling character had gained him a host of friends. He is survived by two daughters, Inez A., with whom he had made his home in Kingston, and May N., wife of Bertram Dero, of Poughkeepsie. Four of his nephews and his two sons-in-law acted as bearers. Interment was in the family plot in the Hudler Cemetery at Mt. Pleasant.

Ellenville, July 28.—Mrs. Josephine Eck died Monday, July 24, at the age of 88 years. She had been in failing health for about a year. She was born in Baden, Germany, on September 14, 1844, the daughter of Frederick Kindle and Augusta Faub Kindle. When nine years of age her parents came to this country and settled in Lackawack. Seventy-one years ago she was married to Joseph Eck of that place, who died six years ago. She has made her home in Ellenville for 17 years. Deceased was a member of the Lutheran Church. Surviving are a son, George Eck, with whom she made her home, and a son, Charles H. Eck of Attica. Also four daughters, Mrs. Andrew Brown of Ellenville, Mrs. John V. Coats of Warwick, Mrs. H. E. Mason of Delhi and Mrs. C. E. Becker of Attica, and one brother, Leonard Kindle, of Newton, Conn. Funeral services were held at the home of George Eck at 2 p. m. Thursday, conducted by the Rev. Olney E. Cook, pastor of the Lutheran Church. Interment was in the Yagerville cemetery.

The funeral of Hugh F. Connelly of 180 Broadway was held this morning from his late home at 9 o'clock and at 9:30 at St. Peter's Church, where a high Mass of requiem was offered for the repose of his soul by the Rev. Henry J. Herdegen. The funeral was one of the largest in the city in some time, and a profusion of flowers and spiritual bouquets in the form of Mass cards, attested the high esteem in which the deceased was held. The church was filled to capacity with friends and relatives. At the offertory of the Mass John Raible sang, "O Salutaris" and at the conclusion, "Jesu Dulcis Memoria", accompanied by John B. Schwalbach. The Holy Name Society of St. Mary's Church with their spiritual director, the Rev. William H. Kennedy, assembled at the home and recited the Rosary. B. P. O. E., No. 550, and Rondout Social Maennerchor also held services at the house. The bearers were Edward M. Gillen, Martin Noble, George Sheppard, Joseph Johnson, John Schatzel and Louis Lange. Interment was in the family plot in St. Mary's cemetery, where Father Herdegen pronounced final absolution.

Word was received by Mrs. William R. Anderson of Ponckhockie street last evening of the tragic death of her little grandson, Arthur Anderson Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur L. Smith (formerly Miss Francella Anderson) near their home at Jamaica, Long Island, on Thursday afternoon. Today Arthur would have been two years old. The lad, loved by all who knew him, had been playing in the yard of the home where he had been tethered for safe keeping. In some way the child broke his tether and wandered across a vacant lot in the rear of the home. He must have tried to cross the railroad tracks of the Long Island Railroad where he was struck by a train, and when the body was found it was apparent the little lad had been killed instantly. The body will be brought to Kingston some time this afternoon or evening and a brief service will be held at the home of Mrs. Anderson some time tomorrow, the hour being not yet known. The burial will be in the Irondale Cemetery, Millerton. Mr. and Mrs. Smith have many friends in this city, who like the immediate family will be sadly shocked to hear the tragic news of the little lad's death. This is the second time that death has visited the Anderson family within the year.

French Tennis Aces Blasted From Court By English Netmen

Perry and Austin Give England 2-0 Lead for Davis Cup in First Day's Matches—French Hope Wanes.

Auteuil, France, July 28 (AP)—England blasted France's hopes of keeping the Davis Cup today with a clean sweep of the first two singles matches in the challenge round of the international tennis battle.

Fred Perry, British No. 1, overthrew the great Henri Cochet in a stirring five-set struggle, 8-10, 6-4, 8-6, 3-6, 6-1, for the main thrust after Henry W. Austin easily disposed of the newcomer, Andre Merlin, 6-3, 6-4, 6-0.

HOME FOR AGED NEEDS TABLE LINEN, COUNTERPANES

At the meeting of the Board of Managers of the Home for the Aged on Thursday afternoon it was discovered that the home was badly in need of table cloths and napkins and counterpanes for the beds. Any friends willing to contribute such articles are asked to telephone the home—630-J—at their earliest convenience.

HELD FOR GRAND JURY ON SERIOUS CHARGE

Mr. and Mrs. Warren Ingalsbe are receiving congratulations over the birth of a daughter Thursday at the Kingston Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Bolash are the proud parents of a daughter born at the Kingston Hospital today.

No Insurance on Capitol

All government-owned buildings, including the United States Capitol and post offices throughout the country are under the jurisdiction of the Treasury department. This department does not place policies of insurance on the Capitol or any other federal building for the reason that congress does not appropriate any money to pay for insurance. Many of these buildings are fireproof, or nearly so, and generally an open space of perhaps 40 feet wide is maintained around each building for protection from fires which might occur in adjoining structures.

Most Famous Bull Ring

The leading bull ring in the world is the old arena of Madrid, with its seating capacity for 14,000 persons. Bullfighters, no matter what success they have in other bull rings, do not consider they have reached the top until they have triumphed in the Madrid bull ring.

HOLD FAST

By DOUGLAS MALLOCH

WITHIN a pasture lot one day,
Where I had gone to hunch a colt,
I let the critter git away—
Let go to git a better holt,
And then I stood and blamed the beast.
Some people will, get good and mad,
Because it took an hour at least
To git again the holt I had.

Yet in that pasture, it appears,
I learnt a lesson, learnt a lot:
I don't let go, in later years,
Until a better holt I got.
Hold fast, the Scriptures say, to good.
Until some other thing you know
Will turn out like you thought it would,
Of what you got don't quite let go.

If I had held him by the mane
Until I got his halter on—
I guess the lesson's purty plain.
With either job or money gone.
For lots of things can go astray
About the same as horses bolt,
So don't let go—not, anyway,
Until you got a better holt.

Figure Weight of Earth at Six Sextillion Tons

The weight of the earth has been computed by scientists at approximately six sextillion tons (six followed by 21 ciphers). The mass of the earth is found by comparing its gravitational attraction on a small sphere at its surface with that of a large sphere of known mass on the same small sphere. The attractive force satisfies the law of gravitation, namely that the force produced on a given small body is proportional to the mass of the attracting body, divided by the square of the distance of its center. If then the forces produced and the distances are known, we can find the ratio of the masses. Boys and Braun independently found the mass to be 5.96 times 10 to the twenty-first power, metric tons. This is the mass of a body with a volume equal to that of the earth, and with a density equal to 5.527 times that of water.

American Heroines

By LOUISE M. COMSTOCK

Elizabeth Porter

A TALL spire in the Union cemetery, Kansas City, boasts that city's romantic link with the distant Altruria of the Revolutionary war, fought on the remote eastern rim of the continent while Kansas City was a still unknown spot in the vast wilderness west of the Mississippi.

The country was new when Samuel Porter with his young bride Elizabeth immigrated from Ireland to make their home in Richmond, Va. Tennessee was still unexplored wilderness filled with dangers, beckoning to ambitious young people desirous of securing land of their own. So, presently, we find the Porters with their retinue of slaves migrating again and setting up a home near Franklin, Tenn.

There was a war going on, they knew, but the rich, newly cleared lands of their homestead were at that time "farthest west" and many miles of wilderness and irregular communication made Bunker Hill and Brandywine seem safely remote. But the long arm of the British through their hired Indian allies reached even that far. And one day, when the men folks were far away in the forests, a whooping band of red warriors descended upon the little settlement at Franklin, took prisoner all the women, including Mrs. Porter, and set off with them through the wilderness.

Through endless miles of forest they marched the small band. The hardships of the journey were extreme, and it lasted for months. There were rivers to ford, dreary nights of discomfort in improvised camping grounds, and the constant menace of their silent but watchful red captors. Just why these women were not killed at the beginning and scalped according to the Indian custom, we do not know, though it has been suggested British officers prevented that.

At length the party reached Fort Niagara, a British stronghold in Canada, and there remained through the long winter. Not until the next spring were they returned to the Colonists and their homes.

Mrs. Porter's third migration was in 1829, when, a widow, she came to Kansas with her son, the Reverend James Porter, a circuit rider.

TRICKS of MAGIC EXPLAINED by Will J. Lindheart

MAGNETIZING A MATCH WITH A COIN

Lay two matches on a table, with one crosswise at the balanced on the other, inform onlookers that you will magnetize the top match with the coin, and it will move at the coin's direction. Rub the head of the match with the coin, pretending to magnetize it, and see that no paper or other light objects are nearby. Then lower your head so your face is near the table. Pass the coin over the match and in the direction in which you want the match to move, and at the same time blow softly at the match. This will move one-half of the match away and bring the other half near you. Then by moving the coin over the other half of the match and blowing at it, you can make it follow the coin's movements. If the audience does not see you blowing at the match, it will seem as though there is some magnetic attraction between the match and coin.

Schryvers Blank Repealers; Wilson Outhurls Fraleigh

Big Ed Wilson of the Schryver Lumbermen and Ted Fraleigh of the Morgan Repealers hooked up in another battle before a capacity crowd at the Athletic Field Thursday evening and for the second time in a row Wilson's elbowing enabled the Lumbermen to whitewash the Repealers, the score being 2 to 0, the same count as in the last game. The series between the two teams now stands even with two victories for each club.

The victory marks the fifth consecutive one for the Lumbermen and gives them a stronger grip on first place in the second half of the City League. They now are a game and a half ahead of the Repealers, champions of the first half and runners-up in the second.

Wilson yielded but three singles and worked his best in the pinches. He allowed Repealers to get on the bases in every inning save one, but always had enough in reserve to keep them away from home plate. Eight of the Repealers were set down by way of the strikeout route.

Fraleigh's offerings were hit harder in this contest than in any other game this season. He was nicked for eight safeties, permitting five of them to be clustered in the last two innings and these proved his undoing.

Johnny Carpenter was the only batter to get an extra base hit, while Niles and Glaser got two hits apiece.

Both pitchers got into trouble in the first inning. The Lumbermen put two runners on the bases after one out, only to be left stranded. The Repealers' opportunity of scoring was even better. They loaded the bases and here was where Wilson showed his best form by fanning three batters.

In the second frame the Lumberman again put two more runners on the paths, but it was not until the fourth that they scored. The Repealers advanced a runner as far as second base in the second inning and after that first base was the farthest they reached.

"Dutch" Glaser opened the fourth inning for the Lumbermen with a sizzling liner past third base for a single and this paved the way for the first run. Carpenter then inserted his double and Glaser raced home for what later proved to be the winning tally.

Norm Niles, who played a spectacular game at second base, registered the Lumbermen's second run. He started the fifth inning with a single past F. Bruhn and took second on Fraleigh's wild throw to first base. Glaser sent him scurrying across the platter with a single to center field.

SIDELINERS

Norm Niles was a handy gent for the Lumbermen in the last inning. He tossed F. Bruhn out at first base and then went into short right field to rob L. Bruhn of a hit.

In the three games Wilson and Fraleigh faced each other only seven runs have been scored by both teams. In their first game Fraleigh won 2-1. Fraleigh also beat the Lumbermen with Hornbeck pitching in their first meeting of the season.

Clows Meet Herzogs Tonight

The Clow Dairymen and the Herzog Hardwaremen face each other at the Athletic Field this evening. In the last meeting between these two teams the Hardwaremen sprung a big surprise by coming from behind in the last inning to score five runs and defeat the Dairymen, who are out to avenge that defeat. Ed Fleming and Joe Messinger will form the battery for the Hardwaremen. Nick Huber or "Pucker" Davis and John Tomaseski will make up the Dairymen's battery.

SPORT SLANTS

By ALAN J. GOULD

(Associated Press Sports Editor.)

Not entirely without some foundation, but nevertheless to somewhat surprising lengths, has the impression gained ground that the greatest of baseball boxmen within the past half dozen years, Robert Moses Grove, has been a soft touch for the New York Yankees.

I have debated this subject before on behalf of the celebrated lefthander and am quite willing to do so again in reply to this inquiry from Joe Gootter, sports editor of the Paterson (N. J.) Evening News, to-wit:

"Did Lefty Grove ever pitch a full game against the Yankees and when?"

The answer is that Grove has pitched no less than ten full games against the Yankees within the past half dozen seasons, give or take a few bad breaks here and there, and that he had more than held his own against the buffeting of the Yankee sluggers, led by Ruth and Gehrig.

He beat them last June 10 by a score of 9 to 5 over the full route and gained another decision over the champions for this year's record in a relief role. He also wild-pitched a game away at the Yankee Stadium.

Lost Six In '28

It is true that Grove has not always worked his regular turn against the Yankees, who have knocked the celebrated portsider out of the box on a number of occasions with a complete lack of respect.

The idea that Lefty was "soft" for the New Yorkers developed away back in 1928, however, when he lost six games to the Yankees and won only one. It has persisted, despite the fact Connie Mack's ace hurler has kept the upper hand ever since. In fact that was the only year in seven, including the record of 1933 to date, in which Grove failed to capture a majority of his games against the Yankees.

He won three and lost one in 1927, 1929 and 1931; won three and lost two last year. In 1930 the books show only one decision and no defeats for Grove against the Yankees, which helped to strengthen the conviction Mack was not exposing his southpaw to unnecessary punishment from the maulers of Manhattan.

Who's Done Any Better?

In 1931, his greatest year, Grove pitched and won only one full game against the Yankees, on May 25. He captured another as a relief pitcher and was credited with a third victory after being knocked out of the box in the sixth by Gehrig's home run with the bases full. This game was noteworthy in that Grove fanned eight of the first ten Yankees to face him. But in the last game of the season the Yankees "put the slug" on Lefty.

He pitched and won full games on May 22 and June 2, 1932, besides finishing and winning the last half of a 16-inning battle on June 2 against the champions. He was twice outpitched and beaten by Lefty Gomez the same year.

There are some unimpressive spots in Grove's all-time record against the Yankees, but he has won 16 and lost 11 against them over a seven-year period—over half the defeats coming in one season—and it seems safe to say no other American League hurler has done as well against Murderers' Row, the Bronx.

Tagging Major League Bases

By HUGH S. FULLERTON, JR.

(Associated Press Sports Writer)

The Washington Senators have drawn first blood in their highly important series with the New York Yankees and boosted their American League lead to two games.

The Senators traveled ten innings to gain their eighth victory in eleven meetings with the Yanks by a 3-2 count yesterday as a pinch hit by Cliff Boltoon, third string catcher, drove in the deciding run.

With southpaw Walter Stewart holding the world's champions to two hits in the first seven innings, Washington rolled up a 2-0 lead and looked as if they were about to hand the Yanks their first whitewashing in 304 games since August 5, 1931. Then with Jack Russell pitching in the eighth, Bill Dickey, Charley Ruffing and Earl Combs connected for singles and one run and Ben Chapman's double in the ninth produced the tying counter.

Ruffing handed out three walks, two intentional, in the tenth before Bolton delivered the winning blow.

New York's National League contender, the Giants, increased their lead to five games. With Carl Hubbell pitching four hit ball for his eighth shutout and the Giants' 17th, and driving in the first run himself, the Giants beat the Brooklyn Dodgers for the fourth time, 2 to 0.

The third place Pittsburgh Pirates meanwhile took their third straight fall out of the Chicago Cubs, 2 to 0, behind the six hit hurling of Larry French, and cut the Cubs' second place margin to a half game.

The St. Louis Cardinals re-asserted their right to fourth place scoring two runs in the ninth by Martin, Watkins, Frisch and Crawford to beat the Cincinnati Reds 4 to 3 while Boston dropped two games to the Phillies. The Phils won on home runs as Harry McCurdy cracked a pinch homer for the winning runs in the opening 4-3 victory and Wes Schulmerich socked one in the second game to win 2-1 as Ben Cantwell gave the winners only two hits.

Cleveland, aided by Monte Pearson's five hit flinging, moved into fourth place in the American League by walloping the Chicago White Sox 9 to 1 while the Detroit Tigers dropped a 12 inning slugging match to St. Louis 10 to 9 on Oscar Melillo's single and Jim Levey's double.

Chicago's defeat, the eighth straight, left the Pale Hose only a half game out of seventh place as the Boston Red Sox defeated the Philadelphia Athletics 6-2 despite Jimmy Foxx's 29th homer.

Jackson Antlers Meet Irish Nine

Sunday afternoon on the Pan Am diamond on the Saugerties road the Jackson Antlers will play the Irish Block Nine. The game will start at 2:30 o'clock. Johnson will pitch and Carrington will catch for the Antlers.

Friday, August 4, the Antlers will meet for the second time this season the Port Ewen Firemen. The Jackson boys dropped the first game with the Port aggregation, 6-9, however, they are hoping the Firemen tilt put them in good shape for the game two days later, Sunday, August 6, with the High Falls Firemen on the latter's diamond. Brown and Benesky will make up the Antlers battery while Hanks and Stoudt will do the honors for High Falls.

First Alarm Clock

It is not definitely known when the first alarm clock was made. Alarm attachments are as old as the mechanical clock itself. They were probably adopted for use of the priesthood. According to one authority, the invention is attributed to the Monk Gerbert, as early as 996.

Rondout Club Plays Connelly at St. Remy

The North Rondout Social Club, rejuvenated by its stout victory of the P. N. A., 18-6 Sunday, plans to conquer new territory this week-end, when Connelly A. C. offers itself as a possible victim for the second time this season, having once fallen before the attack of the Rondouters earlier in the season, 5-3 in a 13 inning game.

But 13 innings makes one fact evident, Connelly is no setup. Since many days have passed between their last meeting and this, the Rondouters might find that Connelly will not be overcome in 13 innings, but possibly be victorious in nine. Connelly is a much improved ball team since its early days.

Rondout will have Jackie Williams pitching and Jim DeCicco catching. Ed Scherer will do the twirling for Connelly with Murdock behind the plate.

The St. Remy diamond is expected to have its largest crowd of the season. The game will start at 3:15.

The North Rondout Club would like to book games—call 3627.

Clinton Nine Trims Kingston Legion, 7-2

The Kingston American Legion Junior baseball team came to an abrupt halt on the path to the state legion junior championship when Clinton trimmed the locals, 7-2, Thursday afternoon at Clinton. This puts Kingston out of the race for the pennant. Celuch and Zadanay made up the local battery.

BILLIARDS

Ken Craig and Billy Hopper will play the final block of the 450 point pocket billiard match for the championship of Class B at Nick Kaslich's parlor tonight.

Craig leads with a 304 score to 297 of Hopper's. Craig has won two straight blocks by a narrow margin.

PLAN FIGHTS TONIGHT AT POUGHKEEPSIE RING

Thirty-six rounds of professional boxing will be staged tonight at 8:30 in the huge pine bowl at Woodcliff Park in Poughkeepsie. The main event of 10 rounds will feature Battling Battalino, former featherweight champion of the world, and Benny Whittler. This will be the first local ring appearance of the ex-champ, who is starting a comeback campaign.

A fine supporting card has been arranged. The semi-final of eight rounds will bring together Tommy Walsh and Sergeant Bill Higgins of the light-heavyweight class, and Rocco Vigna and Davey Atler meet in another eight rounder, while a six framer precedes this with Johnny Allen and Jimmy Doyle squaring off. The opener of four rounds will be between Sammy Saviero and Gus Johnson.

MODENA

Modena, July 28.—The splendid rainfall of Monday and Tuesday relieved the arid condition of both earth and atmosphere to a great degree, releasing the grip of the most severe drouth experienced in this section for many years. Estimates of damage, caused by the drouth, totals high and both grain and vegetables suffered.

The Rev. and Mrs. Robert Guice, Ruth, and Richard Guice are spending the summer vacation with Mr. and Mrs. Sheridan Lee at Holmes, N. Y.

Mrs. DuBois Grimm and Miss Alice Felter are spending this week on Long Island with friends.

The Modena Fire Department baseball team will have as their guests Sunday afternoon, July 30, the Shunpike Country Club baseball team of Dutchess county. Myron Miller will pitch for the visitors while Frank Miller will support the firemen.

Max Skyer of Newburgh was a business caller in this place Tuesday.

Mrs. Eugene Atwood of Ardonia was a visitor of Mrs. Christian Matheison during the past week.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Black were callers on Mr. and Mrs. Myron Shultis Sunday evening.

Ralph Dewey of Tillson was a business visitor in town Wednesday.

Mrs. Freston Paltridge was a visitor in Middletown last week.

The Misses Lucy entertained company at their home Wednesday.

Harry Behn is attending the World's Fair in Chicago, Ill., in company with George Grimm of New Paltz.

Mrs. A. D. Wager, Mrs. Freston Paltridge, Mrs. Harry Gerow, Mrs. Ransel Wager, Miss Glennie Wager and Harold Wager were callers on Mrs. Matilda Trowbridge and Mrs. Theresa Stokes in New Paltz Wednesday evening.

Harold Delamater of Poughkeepsie was a visitor in this place Wednesday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Hallock Harris entertained visitors at their home Wednesday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Herman Dempsky were callers on Mr. and Mrs. Freston Paltridge recently.

A number of local people attended the indoor baseball game played on the New Paltz Normal baseball diamond Wednesday at twilight. A very amusing exhibition was in session and the players enjoyed the game, as well as the spectators.

A group of local lads are planning on joining reforestation camps in distant states.

A record number of relief workers have signed up for work on the highways in this town at this early date.

KRIPPLEBUSH.

Kripplebush, July 28.—Church services will be held Sunday at 2 p. m., conducted by the Rev. R. J. Harrison. Sunday school will be at 1 p. m. standard time. A cordial invitation is extended to the public to attend those services.

Miss Virginia L. Christiana is spending some time in Ellenville with Mr. and Mrs. Irvin H. Barley.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Bedford of Ilion, have been spending a few days with Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Van De Mark and family and Mrs. Jane Van De Mark.

Work was started Monday on the road in this place. Several out of town men are employed.

Mrs. Lottie M. Roosa returned home Thursday after visiting Mrs. Peter Roosa and family of Kingston.

LeRoy and Kenneth Osterhoudt are doing the repair work for James Roosa to meet the requirements of the State-Hill Milk and Cream Co., Inc.

Mr. and Mrs. Stah Davis and family of Rose Hill, spent Sunday evening with Mrs. Davis's mother, Mrs. Ida Conner.

Miss Murlie Smith and Miss Gladys Van De Mark were among the group from Ulster county comprising the Farm Bureau tour to the World's Fair in Chicago.

Labor Exchange

The term labor exchange is sometimes erroneously applied to employment bureaus. Properly the term was given to a class of institutions founded in 1832-1835, designed to bring about an exchange of products of labor without the use of money. The basis of the value of each product was the amount of time spent in producing it.

Glasco Boxer Bests Utah Man in C. C. C.

Dear Editor:

We, the boys of the C. C. C., wish to thank you very much for putting our last write-up in your paper, in the issue of July 14. We would like to know if you would be kind enough to put another one in for us. If so, please print the following:

Dear Friends and Relatives:

Through the courtesy of the Kingston Daily Freeman we are able to let you know what is going on out here in the west. Well today it is very quiet here at camp as it is "Pioneer Day" here in the west and many of the boys are to Salt Lake City to view the big parade which they are having. As you can see we have a long vacation this week from Friday afternoon until tomorrow morning, July 25.

I have written before that the weather was hot out here but now it is getting hotter. We were told by the home town folks that the last part of August it is the hottest of all the year. I suppose it is nice and cool in Kingston now.

Friday evening, July 21, we sure did have some good bouts. A fellow from Glasco by the name of Frank Cashara fought a fellow from Utah by the name of "Buffalo" Naylor. Cashara gave him a bad beating and was awarded the decision at the end of the bout. They are now planning to send him and some other good boxers to fight the best from 230th and 231st company which are stationed at Carter, Wyoming, and Evanston, Wyoming, respectively. I think our boys will sure give them a good run for their money. I wish you could see some of these boys in action. After all our bouts we have refreshments served, consisting sometimes of doughnuts and coffee or cocoa and other times hot dogs and cake and coffee, cocoa or ice tea. I think that is pretty good, don't you?

We now have some new regulations here at camp. One of them is that everyone should be in camp at 10 p. m. on Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday nights. A truck goes to town at 9:30 to bring us back. On Friday, Saturday and Sunday nights everyone who is coming back to camp has to be in by 1 a. m. Trucks go to town 10 p. m. and 12 p. m. to bring them back. If this rule is disobeyed any offender has to work on Kitchen Police or so called K. P. on Saturdays, Sundays and holidays for a couple of weeks. Another regulation or rule is that every week we have inspection of tents, bunks and neatness of floors. This is held on Saturday morning at 9 a. m. The winner of this heads the chow line for a week. We happen to be the winners for the first week.

We now have our shower room completed also have a wash room and plenty of hot and cold water. The tent flooring is about two-thirds completed. This sure makes a great difference in the appearance of the camp. Our mess hall was started last Wednesday and is well under way now. Six new carpenters were added to the gang last week. The camp is being laid out in the shape of a horseshoe.

It may be of some interest to you folks to know who is here from Kingston and what jobs they hold. First there is "Bill" McClenahan who is our star ball player; he breaks up many a ballgame. Then there is James Carlson who is sub section foreman and "Stan" Carson who has a job of section foreman. "Joe" Abdullah is our company barber and does he give us a close shave, wow. And then there is myself, I have a job as carpenter foreman. We all seem to get along good with the rest of the outfit. We have fellows here from Port Jervis, Port Chester, Newburgh, Beacon, Poughkeepsie, Kingston, Glasco, High Falls, Carmel, Binghamton and Fish's Eddy.

On Saturday morning we were taken for a trip to Salt Lake City and taken through the Mormon Tabernacle and through the Museum and all around the Mormon Temple by a guide from there. At the museum there are all kinds of things of interest among which is some Indian mummies of children and men and women, also many Indian arrows and other things too numerous to mention. At 12 noon we were taken into the tabernacle again to hear one of the organ recitals which they have daily. It is forty-five minutes of good music. We were all invited to attend the church services on Sunday at 2 p. m. We were told that we would go on week-end trips now quite often. We sure did have a fine time this past week-end.

Last Tuesday night, July 18, the Episcopal congregation of Salt Lake City held a two-act play here at our company stadium. It sure was good. They are now planning on having another one here in the near future. We had about 75 visitors up here to see it.

We have church services here at camp every Sunday morning at 10. It is well attended by us. They sure do have some inspiring services.

Now I will give you the menu for our Sunday dinner, July 23, roast beef, mashed potatoes, new beans, beets, bread and butter, lemonade and watermelon. Not bad, what do you think?

Well folks, I can't think of anything more to say now so I will have to stop. With the best of wishes to all.

Sincerely yours,

ANDREW PLAPP, Jr.

Mosloski Found.

Stanley Mosloski, amateur boxer of Newburgh, who fought several times in Kingston, had relatives worried recently because he disappeared from his home. Several days after, however, he informed his mother he was well and on his way north to look for work in rings upstate.

N. R. S. C. Meeting Tonight.

Every member of the North Rondout Social Club is expected to attend the meeting of the club tonight at 7 o'clock.

Chile Has Many Earthquakes

Service Clubs Pay Scout Camp Visit

Members of six service clubs in Ulster and Greene counties spent an enjoyable afternoon and evening at Camp Half Moon, the Boy Scout camp, Thursday. Clubs represented were Kingston Rotary, Kingston Kiwanis, Catskill Rotary, Cairo Exchange, Saugerties Lions and New Paltz Exchange.

Two ball games were played during the afternoon, one between pick-up teams and another between the Saugerties Lions and a team representing the pick of the other clubs. The score was 4 to 0. There was a great deal of argument as to which side had the four, but weight of evidence gave it to the Lions. The umpire was R. A. Austin of Cairo and he had troubles of his own.

A game of volley ball, in which the pick of the Scout camp played the pick of the service clubs, was won by the camp team.

All went for a swim at 5:45 and at 6:30 supper was served, to which all did full justice. In the evening there was a big campfire, with stunts and songs by the Scouts.

Tonight at the camp there will be a big campfire and the closing court of honor for the first two weeks' period. The boys will leave after lunch Sunday and Sunday afternoon and evening the boys who are coming to camp for the second period, including many who have been spending the first two weeks there, will arrive.

The camp has had a total attendance during the past week of 84, which includes members of the camp staff.

Central Hudson Plays.

The Kingston Central Hudson will meet the Poughkeepsie Central Hudson team, Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock on the Pan Am diamond on the Saugerties road.

Dollfuss Offers Austria 'New Deal' Centered On German Catholicism

He Preaches A National Mission

By WADE WERNER.

Vienna (AP).—Chancellor Engelbert Dollfuss' determination to drive Hitlerism out of Austria is not the only spectacular objective he has announced for his regime.

There is a positive side to the Dollfuss program, too. It constitutes a "new deal"—the reforging of Austria into a German Catholic state with a new constitution, a new European outlook and a new adjustment of the problems of labor and capital.

"At a time like this," he told Austrians in a manifesto published through the land, "when German civilization is passing through a great crisis, this German folk in the Alpine and Danube country must remain an island of Christian-German culture in its old and unadulterated form."

Gives Austria New Mission.

For a long time, he reminded his public, it was Austria's mission to be the organizer and administrator of many nationalities living and developing within the old empire.

"But that mission is ended," he said. "Austria now should become a refuge of Christian-German civilization and a mediator between the German nationality in general and the other nations of the world."

Sees Inspiration in Past.

But Austria also must be built anew within its own borders and "the debris of the revolution" swept away, he continued.

"Much already has been accomplished in this respect," added the diminutive leader. "When we came back from the trenches after the war they tore the stars off our uniforms (Dollfuss was wearing his wartime uniform when he made this speech) but in recent weeks we have put them back onto the tunics of our soldiers.

"Let this be a symbol! A nation which forgets its glorious past has no future."

The new Austria, Dollfuss further has said, will be a truly Catholic state.

New Constitution Promised.

"We in Austria," he said at historic Mariazell, "want more for Catholicism than the opportunity to influence the individual. Beyond that, it must not only be anchored in our political and national life; it must express itself in the very organization of the state."

The parliament which "paralyzed itself" last March will not be allowed to return until a new constitution has been drawn up, and a new relationship established between capital and labor, based on Christian, not "Marxist" principles, Dollfuss said.

Engelbert Dollfuss, chancellor of Austria and foe of Hitlerism, has called upon the nation to reconstruct itself into a centralized Catholic state as a barrier to extremists in central Europe.

MULLER WILL CONDUCT LOCAL SYMPHONY AGAIN.

At a meeting of the board of directors of the Kingston Symphony Society held here last evening at the home of Mrs. Clara Norton Reed on Crown street, two very important matters were acted upon by those present. President Paul Zucca presided.

It was unanimously voted to reappoint Prof. George H. Muller conductor of the Kingston Symphony Orchestra for the ensuing year.

Expressing their sense of deep loss in the death of Thomas J. Comerford, it was voted to incorporate the tribute to Mr. Comerford which appeared in the daily newspapers of the city at the time of his death as a resolution expressive of the feelings of the board of directors, to have the same spread upon the minutes of the society and to have a copy sent to Mrs. Comerford.

Tentative plans looking toward the activities of the orchestra the coming year were considered and will be elaborated when the matter of its concerts for the year is taken up at the next meeting of the board of directors.
